

Dominion To Give $12,500,000 For Relief Of Manitoba Flood

Three-Quarters Of Union Loggers In Favor Of Striking

No Offer Of Deadlock Key From Either Side

Strike orders were issued today to 30,000 coastal woodworkers.

The orders went out from B.C. district headquarters of the C.I.O.'s International Woodworkers of America, Vancouver.

Stewart Alsbury, district representative, announced final returns in the Thursday government-supervised strike vote among employees of 163 coastal logging operators, showed 75 per cent of the union's members in favor of strike action to back demands for a union shop and a wage increase of 17 cents an hour for all.

June 15 has been set as the strike date.

"We will listen to and discuss any reasonable proposal until the eleventh hour of strike action," Alsbury said.

At the same time, R. V. Stuart, head of Forest Industrial Relations, bargaining agency for employers, said the operators would stick to a conciliation board ruling which offered loggers nine-cent hourly increases, would give cooks and bunkhouse workers a 51-cent raise, and give their union a maintenance of membership clause.

The union earlier rejected these terms.

NO COMMENT

Government officials were reluctant to comment for the record on the strike's potential effect. But they said privately it was one of the worst things that could happen in the province.

Its effect would be felt in several ways, they said. Not the least was the fact that an unusually bitter winter already had caused the mills to fall well behind production schedules since many were snowed in and others had their heating systems frozen.

British Columbia lumber is sought throughout the world. Last big tie-up in B.C. logging was in 1946 when more than 30,000 men hamstrung the industry for 36 days. They asked for a 40-hour week and a 25-cent an hour pay boost. They went back to work for a 15 cents an hour raise.

That strike involved the loss of $8,000,000 in wages and 300,000 board feet in lumber production.

The strike which now threatens could be even more serious. The strike would directly affect between 8,000 and 9,000 Vancouver Island workers, including about 1,500 employed in the Victoria area.

Employees of Blondest, Stewart & Welch Ltd., Port Alberni, who bargained apart from others, are voting today on strike action. There is little doubt they too will vote in favor of striking and be ready to walk off with other workers June 15.

Suspect Arson In Train Fire That Killed Five

GLASGOW, Scotland (UP) — A fire which killed five persons aboard the Birmingham-Glasgow express may have been deliberately set as a cover-up for a $28,000 jewel robbery, Scotland Yard agents said today.

The fire swept three coaches of the train Thursday night, trapping a mother and her two children, and another woman and a man, all riding in one compartment. All burned to death.

Jewels worth $28,000 placed aboard the train in Birmingham were missing after the fire. The gem shipment disappeared from a locked luggage coach which was not harmed in the fire, guards said.

Agents from Scotland Yard immediately began questioning passengers on the possibility that thieves set the fire to distract attention while they broke into the luggage coach.

Railway workers and their families from a small settlement beside the tracks battled the fire with a bucket brigade.

The express was 42 miles from Glasgow on its northbound run when the fire broke out. The blaze apparently started on a canvas hood between two first-class coaches. It spread rapidly through three cars, destroying two. The train rolled to a stop half-way up 1,052-foot Mount Beattock beside a row of railroad workers' cottages.

Residents heard the screams of the passengers and came running with buckets of water.

3 Ex-Convicts Admit Part In Fatal Hold-Up

HAWTHORNE, N.Y. (UP) — Three former convicts have confessed the $41,000 hold-up-murder of a Reader's Digest truck messenger, state police said today. A fourth man still is being sought for the April 3 stick-up in which Andrew Petrini, 33, was shot to death as he sat in the truck when one of the bandits fired a shot merely to break a window to open a door.

The suspects, held without bail on homicide charges, are Harry A. Stein, 32, acquitted in 1931 in the strangling of Vivian Gordon, a New York City woman vice racketeer; Calman Cooper, 43, and Nathan Wissner, 38.

Stein was convicted of a jewel robbery shortly after his murder trial acquittal and served 15 years of a 25-year sentence. Cooper was freed several months ago after serving a sentence of 20 years to life for the hold-up murder of a Brooklyn night watchman in 1935, and Wissner was released four years ago after serving a 10 to 20-year-term for robbery.

Stein was arrested in New York City Tuesday and the others were arrested yesterday, police said.

Four bandits hijacked the magazine truck as it left the Reader's Digest plant at Chappaqua, N.Y., and escaped with about $5,000 in cash and $35,000 in non-negotiable cheques.

Find Quake Fault

SEATTLE (AP) — A University of Washington geologist said today he had traced the source of the northwest's rocking earthquake of April 13, 1949, to a fault in the Black Hills southwest of Olympia. The investigator, Dr. Charles E. Weaver, said "there is a possibility the fault may extend as far north as Seattle."

Crosby's Sponsor Switches To Hope Who Quits Levers

NEW YORK (UP) — Bob Hope caught Bing Crosby's cigarette company sponsor on the rebound today with the "most fantastic deal in the history of radio."

The comedian switched to Chesterfield on a big money contract with the Liggett and Myers Tobacco Co. for a series of radio programs starting next fall over NBC.

Crosby, Hope's friendly radio rival, has been Chesterfield's big star.

Hope canceled his $10,000,000 contract with Lever Brothers' soap company this week by mutual consent.

The comedian said he would make more money on a capital gains arrangement with the tobacco firm and the program could be taped, recorded, "or anything just so it gets on the air."

Hope also signed an exclusive long-term contract with NBC for his services in both radio and television, Joseph H. McConnell, president of the National Broadcasting Co., announced.

Five Die In Blast

MANILA, P.I. (UP) — Five persons were killed and 15 injured today when a box of explosives went off in a home in the Palomar slum district.

Police said Oscar de la Cruz, 33, his daughter and three others were killed in the blast after de la Cruz brought the box home with him.

S. China Port Closed By Reds

HONGKONG (UP) — Communist authorities closed the port of Swatow in southern China, it was reported today, leading to speculation the city might be in the midst of final preparations for the Communist invasion of Formosa.

The report on the port's closing was received from the British ship Kwelyang, which said it had been refused entry and had been waiting outside the harbor for several days.

VANCOUVER (BUP) — British Columbia homes will be able to have television by this fall, according to J. H. Otten, president of Phillips Industries Ltd., an international radio manufacturer.

Otten is visiting Vancouver, and he said his company would begin selling in August a commercial TV radio set. It would cost about $1,000 a set, he said.

LIE ABANDONS PLAN

No 'Peace Session' Of Security Council

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y. (UP) — Prospects for a midsummer "peace session" of the United Nations' Security Council, attended by heads of state, faded today, although Secretary-General Trygve Lie said he had "hints" an agreement might be reached on several issues of the East-West deadlock once the problem of Chinese representation is solved.

Lie told a news conference Thursday night that he would not recommend summoning a high level Security Council meeting now. But he said that during his five-week tour of the Big Four capitals he had received "hints" of possible agreement. He did not elaborate.

Hitherto, Lie had been recommending that the chiefs of government, or their foreign ministers, gather at a "periodic meeting" of the Security Council at Geneva to discuss the cold war and the East-West U.N. impasse before the General Assembly meets Sept. 19.

"Today, I would recommend not to call a periodic meeting at once," he said. "Not until the governments are quite sure they will find some agreement would I recommend calling a periodic meeting."

Lie maintained silence on the substance of replies made by the four powers to his 10 points for peace, submitted as a memorandum to President Truman, Russian Premier Josef Stalin and the leaders of Britain and France. But he disclosed he had criticized Russia's boycott during his visit to the Kremlin.

To Pay 75% Of Costs Of Re-Diking In Addition

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Abbott announced in the Commons today that the federal government will grant $12,500,000 to the Manitoba government as an "initial payment" for Red River Valley flood rehabilitation.

He announced also that the Dominion will bear 75 per cent of the cost of diking and other remedial measures, as was done in the Fraser Valley floods in 1948.

Turning briefly to the disastrous fires at Rimouski and Cabano, Que., he said the federal government has not yet had a chance to discuss with Premier Duplessis of Quebec the report of the commission which investigated the fires.

It is anticipated a statement will be made on the fires next week.

Japan Police Arrest 3 More Red Leaders

TOKYO (UP) — Japanese police arrested three Communist leaders today on charges of opposing the occupation.

Yasumasa Sato, chairman of the National Federation of Government and Public Workers' Unions, was arrested here charged with distributing handbills and leaflets entitled "an open letter to General MacArthur."

The leaflets charged MacArthur's headquarters with "undemocratic" actions in the arrest and sentencing of eight Communists for attacking five U.S. soldiers during a Tokyo rally May 30.

In Osaka police arrested Takazo Minamoto, 41, and Toshio Hirai, 29, chairman of the South Osaka Communist Party branch. They were charged with pasting up posters saying the eight Communists had been arrested "without reason."

THIRTY RAIDS

The arrests were made in the course of raids on 30 labor union offices. Police said the raids were in connection with the investigation of letters sent MacArthur protesting the May 30 arrests.

An arrest warrant also was issued for Hiroshi Nakagawa, secretary-general of the National Federation of Government and Public Workers' Unions, but he could not be found. It was thought possible he might have gone underground to carry on the campaign against the occupation.

Communist defiance of MacArthur following the purge of 41 Communist leaders caused the Japanese cabinet to meet in emergency session with Premier Shigeru Yoshida.

Bill Boosting U.S. Draft May Meet Trouble

WASHINGTON (UP) — Senators predicted today rough going on the Senate floor for the administration's bill extending the draft law for another three years.

Even if it should pass the Senate, they said, it is certain to receive vigorous opposition from House leaders who obtained House passage of a much weaker bill.

The Senate armed services committee Thursday approved a bill providing for a straight three-year extension with no strings whatever on the government's right to resume inductions.

The House voted recently to extend the law for two years but to prohibit any inductions until Congress passes a joint resolution authorizing them.

There was no indication when the Senate would act. Senator Richard B. Russell, D., Ga., a high-ranking member of the Senate committee, said, however, that the bill is on the administration's "must" list of legislation.

Union Says Three-Quarters Of Coast Loggers Vote To Strike

Ballots cast Thursday in the government-supervised strike vote among 30,000 coast loggers and lumber workers were still being tabulated at the Vancouver office of the B.C. Labor Relations Board today.

Spokesmen for C.I.O.'s International Woodworkers of America, however, were announcing the result of the vote as being 75 per cent in favor of strike action, and were planning accordingly.

The union says it will pull its members out June 15 if the employing companies don't offer an acceptable agreement before that date.

The operators' reply is: "An offer has been made in compliance with unanimous recommendations of a conciliation board and that is final."

The offer provided a 9-cent an hour wage increase to loggers and a 5-cent an hour increase to cookhouse and bunkhouse employees, and a maintenance of membership clause to their union. The union wants 17 cents an hour increase for all and a union shop clause.

Officials at Labor Relations Board headquarters in Victoria had no comment to make. They were waiting for the result of the vote to be announced by the Vancouver office.

They made it clear, however, than an overall majority in favor of strike action among those voting would not necessarily tie up the whole industry.

Each of the 163 bargaining units will be considered separately in the vote count. In any one district where those in favor of remaining on the job outnumbered those in favor of striking, all workers in that unit will be compelled to accept the decision of the majority, and keep on working even though workers elsewhere go on strike.

The Labor Relations Board is taking a strike vote today among employees of Bloedel, Stewart and Welch, Port Alberni, only major coast logging concern whose employees did not vote Thursday.

Result of this vote, which concerns about 2,000 men, will be announced Saturday.

Last big tie-up in B.C. logging was in 1946 when more than 30,000 men hamstrung the industry for 36 days. They asked for a 40-hour week and a 25-cent an hour pay boost. They went back to work for a 15-cent an hour raise.

That strike involved the loss of $8,000,000 in wages and 300,000,000 board feet in lumber production.

The strike which now threatens could be even more serious. The strike would directly affect between 8,000 and 9,000 Vancouver Island workers, including about 1,500 employed in the Victoria area.

$12,500,000 In Dominion Aid For Manitoba

Actual Flood Cost Set At $26,631,880

OTTAWA (CP) — Finance Minister Abbott announced in the Commons today that the federal government will grant $12,500,000 to the Manitoba government as an "initial payment" for Red River Valley flood rehabilitation.

He announced also that the Dominion will bear 75 per cent of the cost of diking and other remedial measures, as was done in the Fraser Valley floods in 1948.

Turning briefly to the disastrous fires at Rimouski and Cabano, Que., he said the federal government has not yet had a chance to discuss with Premier Duplessis of Quebec the report of the commission which investigated the fires.

It is anticipated a statement will be made on the fires next week.

Mr. Abbott, just back from a flying trip to the flood area where he had conferences with provincial officials, tabled an interim report by the joint federal-provincial commission appointed to investigate the extent of flood damage.

The commissioners, J. B. Carswell and D. Bruce Shaw, reported that "in the aggregate and subject to necessary further detailed investigations, excluding intangibles, personal effects and crop losses," the total cost of the Manitoba flood was $26,631,880.

This included damage "in the neighborhood" of $16,424,646, cost of flood fighting $7,089,056, cost of emergency relief $618,178, cost of emergency precautions to guard against recurrence of flood conditions $2,500,000.

The 21-page, 6,000-word report stressed that municipalities such as St. Boniface, St. Vital, Port Garry, East and West Kildonan, whose streets, sidewalks, sewers, bridges and water systems suffered heavily, would need substantial aid. They did not have the resources in equipment, cash taxation potential or credit to deal with the problem themselves.

No Official Move By Lieut.-Gov. To Retire This Year

Special to the Times

OTTAWA — If Lieutenant-Governor Charles A. Banks of B.C. has any intention of retiring before his term expires in October, 1951, he has not made any official move in that direction.

Government officials said reports of the Lieutenant-Governor quitting his office were "speculative."

It was reported from Ottawa in a Vancouver paper Friday that Mr. Banks had resigned and John Hart, former B.C. Premier, might be his successor. Mr. Hart would not comment on the report.

WEATHER LIKE CRAZY QUILT ACROSS DOMINION

By BRITISH UNITED PRESS

Searching hot weather kept up a heat wave in southern Ontario and Quebec today but snow lay on the ground in the far north.

The rest of the nation had to get by with showers and cloudy skies.

While the mercury soared toward the highest levels of the year at New York with a maximum of 90 predicted for this afternoon, Ontario and Quebec regions basked in the high 80s.

But at Arctic and Resolute bays in Canada's northernmost limits, several inches of snow covered trails after a heavy fall earlier this week.

Thermometers registered below freezing this morning at many places in the northern mountain areas. Midwesterners kept their topcoats on as a blanket of humid air hung over the midlands and temperatures dropped below 65 degrees.

There was no immediate indication when southern Ontario and Quebec's heat wave would end.

U.S. PLANE SHOT ITSELF DOWN INTO NORTH SEA

LONDON (AP) — A United States B-29 bomber which fell in flames into the North Sea Wednesday with a loss of at least three lives, shot itself down during gunnery practice, headquarters of the 3rd Air Division said today.

Bullets from the plane's 50-calibre machine guns struck the right outboard engine during a firing run on a gunnery range off the Norfolk coast, a spokesman said, setting the plane on fire.

Eleven crewmen were ordered to abandon the burning plane at low altitude. Four were rescued, three were recovered dead, and a search is continuing for the other four.

The air force spokesman said failure of normal safety devices with which the big plane was equipped permitted the gunfire from its own turret to strike the outboard engine. "It was just one of those things that happen," he said. "All normal precautions were taken."

Normally automatic controls cut the fire of the B-29's machines should they be turned toward any part of the aircraft.

OTTAWA RULES NO RAIL RATE DELAY

Boost Not To Be Postponed From June 16 Federal Cabinet Informs Seven Provinces

OTTAWA (CP) — The cabinet has rejected a request from seven provinces for a stay in putting the latest freight-rate increase into effect, Prime Minister St. Laurent informed the Commons this afternoon. The increase will go into operation June 16.

The Prime Minister tabled letters to provincial premiers declaring the government feels it should not interfere with the 34 per cent increase at least until it has heard a formal appeal by the provinces against the whole 1949-50 series of rate increases.

Pending the appeal, Mr. St. Laurent said, the government should not assume that the Board of Transport Commissioners was wrong in finding the railways needed more revenue.

If the railways were to get additional revenue, it had to come either from users of rail service or the public treasury. The Prime Minister added he felt sure the provinces were not suggesting that at this time the additional revenue should come from the treasury.

The increase, awarded May 25 by the Board of Transport Commissioners, is one of 34 per cent, amounting to about $13,000,000 a year in freight charges.

Seven provinces petitioned the cabinet to hold it up pending disposition of an appeal to that body against the last three increases, totaling 20 per cent.

Later, three of the provincial governments — Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba — individually called on the cabinet by telegram to stay the increase until the appeal was disposed of.

The Prime Minister's reply today indicated the decision had been sent to those provinces sending the telegrams.

Manitoba Says Federal Grant Not Enough

Special to the Times

WINNIPEG (CP) — Premier Campbell said today he cannot "express complete satisfaction" with Ottawa's initial flood-damage payment of $12,500,000 because it does not meet the immediate needs of Manitoba.

Mr. Campbell said Finance Minister Abbott's statement to the House of Commons did not give definite assurance as to the total amount of federal help that will be available.

"Manitoba's own estimate of the flood damage was approximately $50,000,000," said the premier.

"The progress report now released by the joint commission indicates a total of more than $26,000,000, but does not include major items of loss which we regard as worthy of most serious consideration by the federal government, such as loss of revenue to municipalities, loss on personal property, incense loss to hospitals and many others."

Another Gravely Hurt As 32 Cars Derailed

WINNIPEG (CP) — Two Canadian National Railways freight trains collided early today near McIntosh, in northwestern Ontario. Three crew members are missing and one is seriously hurt, the C.N.R. announced.

Details of the accident were not known. Thirty-two freight cars were derailed.

The missing:

Engineer E. Mahoney and fireman E. L. Ruston of Sioux Lookout, Ont., of the eastbound freight.

Engineer Dillon of the westbound freight.

Seriously injured is brakeman H. R. Roy, Fort Frances, one of the eastbound train's crew.

McIntosh is about halfway between Sioux Lookout and Redditt, on the C.N.R. main line through northwestern Ontario. Redditt is the first divisional point east of Winnipeg.

C.N.R. officials in Winnipeg said it was not known whether the line would be cleared in time for undelayed passage of tonight's Transcontinental passenger trains. No. 1 eastbound from Vancouver to Montreal, should pass McIntosh about 12:20 a.m., C.D.T., Saturday, and No. 4, eastbound to Toronto, at 1:46 a.m., C.D.T. Westbound mainline traffic is due a few hours later.

Geologist Traces Fault Held Cause Of Coast Quakes

SEATTLE (BUP) — A University of Washington geologist reported today he had discovered the cause of the mighty earthquake which rocked the Pacific Northwest on April 13, 1949.

Dr. Charles Weaver said the quake could be blamed on a previously unknown "fault" in the black hills southwest of Olympia, Wash.

Dr. Weaver spent three weeks in the area and several months in the laboratory before announcing his findings. He said the fault runs along a line of possibly 100 miles, along which more quakes could develop.

Last year's Northwest quake caused millions of dollars' damage and resulted in nine deaths.

Dr. Weaver said the fault runs in a straight line from the hills northeastward to near Olympia and that it may extend on through Seattle.

Red Troops Moving For Formosa Drive

TAIPEI (AP) — Official Nationalist dispatches tonight reported a heavy movement of Communist troops from central and south China toward the east coast for an invasion of Formosa.

Rumors spread through this capital of Nationalist China that the Reds would attempt their invasion in the first part of July.

(The Communists have masked their invasion plans well. There have been various reports they will strike immediately, this fall and next year.)

The Nationalist defence ministry announced electric power will be shut off in the event of air raids.

Tests have shown that night control through individual blackouts was ineffective.

The defence ministry claimed Nationalist warships, constantly on the prowl to thwart any invasion attempt, had foiled a try by three troop-laden junks to land on two islands of the Wanshan group, southwest of British Hongkong. Two of the junks were sunk.

Another dispatch said a warship and Red artillery guns engaged in a duel in the Pearl River off Canton.

Nationalist quarters credited the warship with knocking out two Communist shore guns.

The official reports on the missing of Red troops opposite Formosa said a large number of craft of all types were being massed on the mainland coast.

The greatest troop movements were toward Amoy, Swatow and other invasion ports.

Driver Injured Badly In Crash Of Two Trucks

Following a head-on truck crash Thursday evening near Duncan, Nicholas Wilby, Maple Bay Road, is in King's Daughters' Hospital suffering from a fractured leg, a fractured pelvis and other internal injuries.

B.C. Police said Wilby, a partner in the Duncan transport firm of Evans-Wilby, was driving a loaded gravel truck north on the new highway when the head-on collision came with a heavy empty truck owned by General Construction Co. Ltd., proceeding south and driven by Fred Dodsforth, Duncan.

Dodsforth escaped with a lacerated hand. Wilby was rushed to hospital by B.C. Police.

Constable J. Meredith-Jones, who attended the accident scene, said the smash-up was north of the junction of the new Island Highway and Herd Road.

Const. Jones estimated damage to the road firm truck at about $600. The Wilby truck is considered a total loss.

Chicago Slums Hide Heir To $4,000,000

CHICAGO (UP) — Detectives searched the flophouses and saloons of skidrow today for Stanley William McKenna Walker, 50, an Oxford graduate and heir to half of an $8,000,000 English estate.

The missing persons' detail hoped that somewhere among the down-and-outers who line the curbs and sleep off wine binges in the cheap hotels they would find Walker, son of a wealthy British shipbuilder.

All of his family except Walker and a brother were killed during the war in the Liverpool blitz. The brothers became the sole heirs.

Walker, once a British Army captain and manager of a branch of a bank, came to this country some years ago and was naturalized in Uniontown, Pa.

He came to Chicago in 1941. After his family was killed, the British consul sought to locate him. Thomas B. Hunt, a friend in Uniontown, wrote Chicago police in 1945 that he had been asked to find Walker.

Recently, Hunt turned up fresh evidence that Walker had worked in Chicago as a salesman. He wrote again Thursday to the Chicago police.

In his letter, Hunt said Walker had a fondness for "cheap hotels and cheap whisky," despite his education and background.

Boxes Ready For Saanich Ballots

William Poupore, returning officer in the plebiscite to be held Saturday in Saanich on the Wards 5 and 6 secession issue, prepares ballot boxes today at Saanich Municipal Hall. Polling will be from 8 to 8 p.m. Poupore is a former R.C.A.F. wing commander.

Canadian Club Re-Elects Shaw For Second Term

Forrest L. Shaw was re-elected president of the Canadian Club of Victoria for a second term at the annual meeting Thursday in the Union Club.

Lieutenant-Governor Charles A. Banks was appointed honorary president. Other officers elected were: Cmdr. H. L. Webster, first vice-president; Maj. D. L. McKeand, second vice-president; Lt.-Col. J. Nelson Gibson, honorary secretary-treasurer.

Committee members elected were James D. Munro, past president of the club; Col. C. W. Deavey; Maj. Robert D. Mulholland; D. A. M. Patterson; Andrew B. Weir; A. A. Blyth; F. G. Hart and John H. Brown.

37 YEARS' SERVICE

More than 30 members were present to hear an address by Sir Donald Mackenzie-Kennedy, K.C.M.G., a former governor of Mauritius and a man who spent 37 years in colonial service for the United Kingdom.

Sir Donald spoke on Africa, its problems and the part the native population played in the last war.

With regard to the treatment of natives by the government of the Union of South Africa, Sir Donald said Prime Minister Malan was creating the "seed-ground of Communism" by his treatment of the native population.

"What happens in Africa is the next 25 years might have repercussions throughout the Commonwealth," Sir Donald said.

The speaker urged Canadian university graduates to join the British colonial service in South Africa. The colonial service needs doctors, lawyers, scientists, engineers and many more technicians, he added.

A motion by Rev. William Hills that the community should do something for its younger members who reach voting age in order to instill a greater sense of national responsibility was approved by members.

GIVEN THIRD WEEK

Saanich Resident Just Short Of One-Dog Limit

Given two weeks to get rid of all but one of his pack of 30 dogs, Frederick G. Smith didn't quite make it.

In Saanich police court Thursday to report on his progress in disposing of the pack, the 76-year-old first war British army major said he'd got rid of all but one.

However, Claude L. Harrison, municipal prosecutor, said there were three left, one a pup.

Mr. Smith explained that one of the dogs already had a "sold" ticket on it. A Victoria man was to pick it up. The other was to be shipped to Cassidy.

Mr. Smith, charged with having unlicensed and noisy dogs, was given a third week to ship the two away.

TORONTO (BUP)—Canada's third international trade fair entered its final day today after proving such a success that exhibitors already have started booking space for its 1951 successor.

Women Urged To Share More In Politics

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's women Liberals scored juvenile delinquency and "intimate romantic comedies" and took a poke at living costs in a battery of resolutions approved at Thursday's meeting of the National Federation of Liberal Women.

At the fourth biennial convention delegates elected a new president, Mrs. W. T. O'Regan of Ottawa.

Debating women's position in Canadian politics, they reached the conclusion that it was high time women slipped out of her political cocoon and took her rightful place in the public eye.

"Political immaturity," was the way past-president, Mrs. Nancy Hodges of Victoria, described the present condition of the fair sex.

"Women have not yet evolved from within the four walls of their home," she said.

The convention recommended that the federal government be urged to bring about a lowering of the cost of essential commodities "in order that a decent standard of living may be maintained by all classes of Canadians."

Delegates agreed that "since our government dispensed with price ceilings, the cost of food items, clothing, and rentals, has increased to such proportions that despite higher wages and children's allowances, the cost of living is causing grave concern to the majority of our citizens, and especially to those in the low income brackets and on pensions."

At the session Mrs. Louis St. Laurent, wife of the Prime Minister, was named honorary president of the federation. Senator Cairine Wilson, L-Ontario, was named honorary vice-president.

Conveners include: Constitution, Mrs. J. P. Ferguson, Trochu, Alta.; finance, Nell Fitzgerald, Vancouver; education, Mrs. G. R. Rowe, Brandon, Man.

Honorary vice-presidents: Mrs. R. W. Mayhew, Victoria; Mrs. Harper Prowse, Edmonton; Mrs. Walter Tucker, Rosthern, Sask.

K. C. Symons Returned St. George President

Members of the Royal Society of St. George have re-elected K. C. Symons president for the coming year.

Other officers named: Harry Langley, vice-president; Mrs. Bertha Parsons, secretary; and Harry Hollins, treasurer.

Executive committee members will be: Mrs. B. G. Ruddock, Mrs. Harry Langley, G. W. Deaville, Mrs. G. R. Lovatt, Mrs. G. R. Thomson and R. P. Parrnell.

SCATTERED COLONY

Bermas, the oldest self-governing British colony, is composed of about 150 small islands.

R. H. Dayton, administrator of the multi-nation trade extravaganza, said several firms in a number of countries had asked for accommodation to be ready for them when they return next May 28.

Dayton said it was "particularly encouraging" that several of the businessmen booking space a year ahead were Canadian. This, he said, showed clearly that the buying and selling campaigns that raged here for the past 10 days had proved the fair developed markets at home as well as abroad.

According to Dayton, it was virtually impossible to estimate the amount of business done by representatives of nations so widely apart geographically as Britain and Australia and Canada and Cuba. But there were occasional hints that the turnover hit some sort of a record.

Herbert Jones, a Melbourne, Australia washing machine manufacturer, estimated his return from 120 square feet of floor space here would bring him about $5,000,000 over the next two or three years.

He said his "electro-sonic" washing machine, which draws particles of dirt out of clothes without the use of soap, had caught the imagination of Canadian, Mexican, American and Argentinian firms who wanted to manufacture the machines under license.

Two Australians To Visit On Tour

John Rankin, city building surveyor, and A. A. Smillie, chief architect, both of Sydney, Australia, will visit Victoria, October 20 to 22, during a tour of Europe, England, United States and Canada, according to word received Thursday by City Clerk Frank Hunter.

The two officials plan to study at first hand the control of building by municipal councils and modern developments in building construction and municipal architecture.

Four Sailors Hurt When Jeep Crashes

When the navy jeep in which they were riding crashed into a culvert on Colville Road at 4:25 Thursday afternoon, four sailors were taken to H.M.C.S. Naden Hospital to be treated for serious and minor injuries.

Jeep driver A.B. James Scullion, H.M.C.S. Cayuga, and O.D. H. Knight, H.M.C.S. Naden, suffered worst injuries. Scullion sustained head lacerations and contusions and Knight was operated on for leg injuries.

Treated for bruises and shock were other occupants of the jeep, L.S. William Bell, H.M.C.S. Cayuga, and O.D. R. A. Tarpennin, H.M.C.S. Naden.

Injured were taken to hospital by Esquimalt police and navy officials. The jeep was badly damaged.

THREATENED WITH TERM in jail because she refused to pay a tax bill $45 higher than last year was Mrs. Annie Patter of Brampton, Ont. Asked by Mayor Harold Lawrence why she did not appeal to the court of revision, she replied: "I did, but what can you do when five members of the council sit on it?"—(S.N.S. Photo)

Liberals Honor George Pearson Nanaimo Fete

Close to 800 Liberals are expected to gather in Nanaimo tonight to pay respect to George S. Pearson, veteran member of the provincial Legislature, who recently resigned from his two cabinet posts for reasons of ill health.

Mr. Pearson will be honored at a rally to be given at the Pigmy Pavilion under the sponsorship of the Nanaimo and Islands Liberal Association.

Premier Byron Johnson will attend and be principal speaker at the rally. He will make a presentation to Mr. Pearson on behalf of the B.C. Liberal Association.

Other speakers will be Education Minister W. T. Straith, who has assumed the post of Provincial Secretary, previously held by Mr. Pearson, and Health and Welfare Minister Douglas Turnbull, who has assumed Mr. Pearson's other cabinet post.

The rally will be attended by other Liberal- Coalition cabinet ministers: Agricultural Minister Harry Bowman, Labor Minister John Cates, and Lands Minister E. T. Kenny.

Private Liberal- Coalition members of the Legislature, representing Vancouver Island constituencies, who will attend are James Mowat, Alberni; Andrew Whisker, Cowichan-Newcastle; Arthur Ash, Saanich and D. J. Proudfoot, Victoria.

Pete Maffee will present a gift to Mr. Pearson on behalf of the Nanaimo and Island Liberal Association. Elmer Bradshaw, vice-president of the association will serve as chairman of the gathering.

Woman Cyclist Leg Fractured

A woman cyclist received a broken leg in a Thursday evening traffic accident.

City police said Freda M. Castleton, about 60, of 1512 Fernwood Road, was riding her bicycle at Broughton and Blandford Streets when the accident occurred.

Her bicycle was in collision with a car said to have been driven by Edward W. White, 1334 Mitchell Street.

Higher Phone Rates Go Into Effect Saturday

New telephone rates authorized by the Board of Transport Commissioners for Canada will come into effect June 10, the B.C. Telephone Company announced today.

The next telephone bills received by subscribers will be based on the new rates. Because the billing dates vary with the different exchanges, most telephone bills will contain an adjustment between the old rates and the new from June 10 to the billing date. In such cases, details will be shown on a statement enclosed with the bill. Because of these adjustments, the total rental charges on the first bill may be greater than on later bills.

NO DISCOUNT

As the "dollar discount" is being done away with, the amount to be paid by the subscriber will be the amount shown on the bill.

The Board of Transport Commissioners, in an interim order, authorized rate boosts to provide $1,632,455 a year increase in gross revenue—72.18 per cent of the increase sought by the company.

Milk Bottle Plan For Collection Of Flood Donations

Members of the Victoria Kinsmen Club hope to net over $10,000 for the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund with novel idea for collecting money.

They are going to encircle Victoria's milk bottles with cardboard envelopes telling the householder to leave his donation for the fund. With the help of the Pasturized Milk Dealers' Association and the Raw Milk Association, 30,000 milk bottles will have an envelope tied to them.

Large milk bottles also will be placed at main bus stops and contributions will be asked for. The scheme will get under way on Sunday, June 18, and end Saturday, June 24.

Kinsmen members in charge of the campaign are Jack Phillips, chairman; William Passmore and Victor Lea.

No Peace If U.S. Aid To Europe Abandoned In 1952, Truman Says

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—President Truman said today that post-Marshall Plan abandonment of aid to western Europe would be disastrous to peace.

In a world "full of dangers," he said, the United States must continue its contributions to free countries lest "the Communists move in."

He made it clear in an address at graduation exercises of the University of Missouri that he is convinced "our vital national interest in a healthy world economy" will not end when Marshall Plan aid stops in 1952.

"You hear a lot of talk these days to the effect that the world is full of dangers, and that our civilization is heading straight for disaster."

"Of course, the world is full of dangers—the world has always been full of dangers, for people in every country and at every period of history."

But in spite of these dangers, he added, "our civilization need not wind up in disaster."

"It can go on to greater heights. Those who are frightened and dismayed do not have faith that men will use scientific advances for good ends. They see only the dangers in the world—not the opportunities."

Truman's speech was part of a program including his being awarded an Honorary Doctor of Laws degree and a membership key in Phi Beta Kappa, the scholarship society.

LIE ABANDONS PLAN

No 'Peace Session' Of Security Council

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y. (UP)—Prospects for a midsummer "peace session" of the United Nations Security Council, attended by heads of state, faded today, although Secretary-General Trygve Lie said he had "hints" an agreement might be reached on several issues of the East-West deadlock once the problem of Chinese representation is solved.

Lie told a news conference Thursday night that he would not recommend summoning a high level Security Council meeting now. But he said that during his five-week tour of the Big Four capitals he had received "hints" of possible agreement. He did not elaborate.

Hitherto, Lie had been recommending that the chiefs of government, or their foreign ministers, gather at a "periodic meeting" of the Security Council at Geneva to discuss the cold war and the East-West U.N. impasse before the General Assembly meets Sept. 19.

"Today, I would recommend not to call a periodic meeting at once," he said. "Not until the governments are quite sure they will find some agreement would I recommend calling a periodic meeting."

Five Die In Blast

MANILA, P.I. (UP)—Five persons were killed and 15 injured today when a box of explosives went off in a home in the Palomar slum district.

Police said Oscar de la Cruz, 33, his daughter and three others were killed in the blast after de la Cruz brought the box home with him.

S. China Port Closed By Reds

HONGKONG (UP)—Communist authorities closed the port of Swatow in southern China, it was reported today, leading to speculation the city might be in the midst of final preparations for the Communist invasion of Formosa.

The report on the port's closing was received from the British ship Kwaiyang, which said it had been refused entry and had been waiting outside the harbor for several days.

Robbers Believed To Have Set Fire Which Killed Five In Scotland

GLASGOW, Scotland (UP)—A fire which killed five persons aboard the Birmingham-Glasgow express may have been deliberately set as a cover-up for a $28,000 jewel robbery, Scotland Yard agents said today.

3 Ex-Convicts Admit Part In Fatal Hold-Up

HAWTHORNE, N.Y. (UP)—Three former convicts have confessed the $41,000 hold-up-murder of a Reader's Digest truck messenger, state police said today.

A fourth man still is being sought for the April 3 stick-up in which Andrew Petrini, 33, was shot to death as he sat in the truck when one of the bandits fired a shot merely to break a window to open a door.

The suspects, held without bail on homicide charges, are Harry A. Stein, 52, acquitted in 1931 in the strangling of Vivian Gordon, a New York City woman vice racketeer; Calman Cooper, 43, and Nathan Wissner, 38.

Stein was convicted of a jewel robbery shortly after his murder trial acquittal and served 15 years of a 25-year sentence. Cooper was freed several months ago after serving a sentence of 20 years to life for the hold-up murder of a Brooklyn night watchman in 1935, and Wissner was released four years ago after serving a 10 to 20-year-term for robbery.

The fire swept three coaches of the train Thursday night, trapping a mother and her two children, and another woman and a man, all riding in one compartment. All burned to death.

Jewels worth $28,000 placed aboard the train in Birmingham were missing after the fire. The gem shipment disappeared from a locked luggage coach which was not harmed in the fire, guards said.

Agents from Scotland Yard immediately began questioning passengers on the possibility that thieves set the fire to distract attention while they broke into the luggage coach.

Railway workers and their families from a small settlement beside the tracks battled the fire with a bucket brigade.

The express was 42 miles from Glasgow on its northbound run when the fire broke out.

The blaze apparently started on a canvas hood between two first-class coaches. It spread rapidly through three cars, destroying two.

The train rolled to a stop half-way up 1,052-foot Mount Beattock beside a row of railroad workers cottages.

Residents heard the screams of the passengers and came running with buckets of water.

Fort Frances Flood Hits All-Time Record High

FORT FRANCES, Ont. (CP)—The lucrative Fort Frances fishing industry has been crippled by Rainy Lake's spring run-off, industry officials said today.

The lake, already four and a half feet above flood level, at some points is higher than the all-time 1916 mark. Experts say it may not drop to the bench mark—first-flood stage—until Sept. 1.

Cohservative estimates today placed damage to the entire lake area, 200 miles east of Winnipeg in northwestern Ontario, around the million-dollar mark.

No Case For Tradition

BRITAIN AND BRITONS ARE REPUTED to be prisoners of tradition. Some branches of industry are supposed to require something in the nature of a business earthquake to clear the way for new ideas and modern methods. But times are changing. The sheer weight of cold economic fact has caused the break with the past under innumerable heads. Two global wars can be held responsible for much of the metamorphosis which has been brought about since the summer of 1914—both in the social and political life of the nation. The so-called rigid rectitude of the Victorian and Edwardian eras has largely abated in favor of a greater liberality in outlook and an attitude of mind based on simple common sense.

The foregoing evokes a question: Will tradition as expressed by an unwritten law, that a divorced person should not aspire to the Prime Ministership, be ignored in the case of Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden? Our money says that if and when the opportunity presents itself to the Conservative member of the House of Commons for Warwick and Leamington to don the mantle at present worn by the inimitable and irrepressible Churchill, popular influence will be of such force that a political festish of another day will be cast into the limbo. The lady with whom he exchanged marriage vows back in 1923 evidently has not kept her part of the bargain; the male member of the partnership has charged her with desertion, and she did not choose to defend the petition for divorce when the case was called in court yesterday. Indeed, Mrs. Eden, interviewed in New York, said she hoped it would not harm her husband's long governmental career, because "It's my fault, you know; after all he got the divorce."

That would seem to be that as far as Mrs. Eden is concerned. And particularly in view of the fact that she has spent most of her time since 1945 in the United States and Bermuda, and that she has refused to return to her native land to share the political and private triumphs and disappointments of her husband, she has obviously qualified for the category of a voluntary exile—no longer to be considered a factor vis-a-vis the future political and social life of her right honorable spouse. Under these circumstances alone, and without the least regard for tradition or the fast-dwindling band of traditionalists, when the decree nisi becomes absolute six weeks hence a simple clarification of Mr. Eden's status should be forthcoming. The nation he has served with unwavering devotion for so long with a brain and judgment of inestimable value to the House of Commons should not bar him from higher service for outmoded reasons.

From the day he entered Parliament 27 years ago at the age of 26—he served with distinction in the First Great War—Mr. Eden's progress to high ministerial rank was nothing if not spectacular. From Parliamentary Under-Secretary to the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, Sir Austen Chamberlain, to Lord Privy Seal, to Minister without Portfolio to the League of Nations, to Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs from 1935 to 1938, to Secretary of State for Dominion Affairs in the following year, and then on the resignation of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain back to his old job as Foreign Secretary in Mr. Churchill's ministry—in all these offices he acquitted himself in a manner that won the plaudits of political friends and opponents alike. And as leader of the House of Commons from 1942 to 1945—leaving Mr. Churchill free to confine himself almost exclusively to the business of the war—he went through an apprenticeship which his supporters and opponents surely will not forget as, or if, they should be importuned to bow to tradition in respect of his marital troubles.

The free world will remember with gratitude, moreover, that February day in 1938 when Mr. Eden threw his bright future into the lap of the gods and told Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain that he would not go to Rome to lather Mussolini with political soft soap. That action of the member for Warwick and Leamington required high moral courage. The international scene was charged with dynamite. The "sawdust Caesar" had conquered ill-armed, little Ethiopia less than two years earlier and frequently had sung Hitler's chorus of hate at the "effete democracies." Eden knew the Italian braggart better than his political chief did, and his resignation from the Chamberlain ministry was another warning to the British people that Mr. Churchill's prophetic writings before and during that time were based on factual information about the totalitarians. At 33 years of age, then, and in the light of the record, Britain needs Mr. Eden—without ifs or buts.

Canada—A Good Investment

THE READINESS OF AMERICAN capital to invest in Canadian projects such as the Alberta oil industry, lumber and mining ventures, power schemes and other business opportunities backs up the contention of Mr. J. U. Boyer, president of the Canadian Bankers' Association, that if Canadians will not take advantage of such opportunities, foreign investors will. Speaking at an investment dealers' convention in Quebec this week, the banking authority said, "If the Canadian does not share in the benefit by his country's development, the opportunities which offer gain will assuredly not be overlooked by wide-awake investors elsewhere." And he added that "a great deal of venture capital is going to be needed now."

It takes no great economic insight to perceive that the Dominion is on the verge of still greater industrial and commercial progress. Our natural resources are still immense in a world of rapidly shrinking assets. Our capacity to support a far larger population is not yet in sight. Our potential production would seem to have been only partially tapped. To continue this trend will require the expenditure of money. Mine shafts, oil wells and the exploration that precedes them are expensive undertakings. Power projects and the industries that follow them swallow huge capital investments before results are shown. That means cash, in large amounts. Funds may represent the pooled savings of thousands of small investors—the bank depositors, the annuity and insurance purchasers—or they may be in the form of large blocs of wealth provided by established corporations or syndicates. But together they spell development, and the possibility of profitable return. Canada needs development capital now. Canadians should be the first to take advantage of the opportunity which investment in their country's future will provide.

'Father Of The Year'

IT IS NOT WITHOUT SIGNIFICANCE that the "Canadian Father of the Year" in 1950 should be a Winnipeg man who, despite illness, evacuated his family from a home that was in danger and then turned out to work on the dikes. Gordon Pollon has been singled out for the distinction. He is one of hundreds who showed that same type of dogged courage and readiness to work for the community when disaster struck the Manitoba town.

It is particularly fitting that one of such a company should be chosen for the honor. His was not the spectacular, sensational feat. His was the patient and willing completion of a disagreeable job that had to be done in spite of the inevitable misery of a throat ulcer.

The reward he has received is not one of unusual financial wealth. It shows, nevertheless, recognition of a type of man who symbolizes many of the characteristics Canadians admire in fathers. It is such as he who help to inspire the generous response which has greeted the appeal for funds to aid the flood sufferers. In him, our people find intrinsic worth that runs far deeper than the superficial appeal of many men of more glamorous attributes.

Prospect Of Industrial Peace Seen In Auto Union Agreement

By BRUCE BLOSSAT from New York

BARRING THE UNFORESEEN there will be no strike at giant General Motors until at least May 29, 1955. And that prospect is the best news the United States has had in a long time. G.M. produces more than 40 per cent of U.S. cars. It has 275,000 workers scattered through 100 plants all over America. Its activities, like those of other motor makers, affect the operations of thousands of suppliers large and small.

STABILIZING INFLUENCE So five years of uninterrupted labor peace will be a wholesome, stabilizing influence in the whole U.S. economy.

This outlook is possible because of the constructive attitude shown by both G.M. and the United Automobile Workers in negotiating their new contract. In this agreement there is clear evidence of a give-and-take spirit and a real concern for the public interest.

The performance stands in contrast to the bitter bargaining that accompanied the 100-day Chrysler strike, and to the more recent pointless walkout of railroad firemen against four major lines.

The G.M. agreement can't be opened for any reason whatsoever during its life. In return, the company guartees its workers an annual four-cents-an-hour wage hike to be added to basic rates. Walter Reuther, U.A.W. head, characterizes this feature as a reward for continuing increases in worker productivity. He sees it as the end of a long struggle for wage increases "that aren't immediately reflected in price increases."

No question, it is a new and imaginative device for accommodating wage demands without the possible disruption of production at great cost to all concerned. The union also got hospital-medical benefits, improved insurance, a modified union shop and pensions that may range from $100 to $117.50 a month.

ESCALATOR CLAUSE Retained in the contract was the escalator clause providing for wage adjustments tied to the ups and downs of the government cost-of-living index. These changes would have no upward limit but could bring wages no lower than established basic rates. The union wanted to scrap the plan but gave in on this score.

If the Russians are still hoping a U.S. depression is just around the corner, the new G.M. contract will make discouraging reading in the Kremlin. It's no guarantee of prosperity but it's certainly a healthy hedge against serious trouble.

Egypt's Women

By PHILIP TOYNBEE from Cairo

NOTHING STRIKES one as odder, on a first visit to Cairo, than the contrast between the dress and deportment of the 'emancipated' and of the traditional women of Egypt. Probably few but the most naive Europeans will feel their faces suffuse with rage at the spectacle of donkey carts carrying six shapeless black figures, huddled together like sacks of potatoes. Only the most enthusiastic progressives will feel that the lipstick and the Paris model are social advances of unmitigated value. Yet one may, perhaps, feel even less sympathy for the fellow tourists whose indignation for the picturesque blinds them to the very real issues which are involved in these contrasts. The real trouble is not that these black and modest ghosts are black, modest or ghostly, but that they are too often desperately poor. Is there some connection between their clothes and their poverty?

DR. DORIA SHAFIK, the president of Egyptian feminist movement called Daughters of the Nile, vehemently and eloquently claims that the connection is a direct one. It is certainly true that her movement is progressive in a very real sense. She herself, in appearance a sturdier Claudette Colbert, is anything but that often caricatured figure, the masculine-looking feminist fanatic, and the Daughters of the Nile appears to be almost the only genuine liberal movement in Egypt which is neither too fiercely frowned on by the authorities nor of too little importance to be worth their attention.

The immediate aims of the movement are primarily political: the vote for women and the right to sit in parliament. Dr. Shafik believes that until these two steps are taken there is unlikely to be any real social progress in Egypt. For among the poor it is certainly the women who suffer most from the poverty of the family, and who can most fully understand the appalling domestic problems of the Egyptian (peasant) household. Therefore the women once enfranchised, will be a notable force for progress, at least in the most simple and by far the most important sense of economic improvement.

AS FOR THE yashmaks (long veils) and the shapeless black clothes, it is difficult to see how they could long survive complete feminine enfranchisement. They represent its opposite. They represent polygamy and the complete subjection of wives to husbands, and once women are allowed to vote as they choose, neither the subjection nor the outward manifestations of it can possibly survive. We may regret the vanished virtues of a very old civilization; we may have learned from our own sad experience that these enthusiastic measures of social reform seldom fail to create new evils of their own. But it is impossible not to feel sympathetic towards any movement in Egypt (there are alas, so few) which is sincerely even if indirectly trying to make people less poor.

DR. SHAFIK's secondary but scarcely less passionate ambition is to abolish polygamy and to introduce European divorce laws into Egypt. Divorce here at the moment is certainly a very simple business, but its simplicity is not quite of the kind at which Sir Alan Herbert and other reformers have aimed in England. The Egyptian Moslem husband has virtually only to declare "I divorce thee" in sufficiently official terms, and his wife is no longer his wife.

As for polygamy, it is still widely practised among the less sophisticated, and is clearly an additional cause of poverty, as well as being the mainstay of the Moslem attitude to women.

When it was suggested to Dr. Shafik that the religious opposition to the abolition of polygamy would surely be almost insuperable, she proved that she was not to be outdone in the old and delightful game of confounding one's adversaries by quotations and counter-quotations from the Koran.

IN the first place she pointed out that Mohammed limited the number of permissible wives to four, and had thus taken the only step possible in the direction of complete monogamy. More speciously she builds her religious case on the fact that Mohammed had added a rider even to this limitation—"... if it is possible to treat all four wives with equal justice." Since no man can treat four wives with equal justice, she suggested that Mohammed had really advocated monogamy, though he had been obliged to veil his meaning to suit the times he lived in.

Dr. Shafik was clearly delighted with these ingenious discoveries, but it hardly seems likely that she will succeed in defeating the Islamic hierarchy so very much on its own ground. The more practical methods of the Daughters of the Nile come under the heading of non-violent agitation.

They are able to find considerable space in the newspapers—particularly in the Wafd newspaper, "El Misr" (in spite of the fact that the W.A.F.D. party in this question of women's emancipation has been, as in many other things, a great disappointment). They canvass ministers and deputies, agitate among women, and occasionally produce their own literature.

IT WOULD be absurd to say that they are a very influential movement, or that there is much prospect of their soon becoming a force. Under the Europeanized surface of Egyptian life, there is a hard and deep core of Moslem traditionalism. And at the core of this is the majority of the women themselves, few of whom have yet shown any wish for emancipation. If it is possible to show them that their economic condition, to which they are by no means so resigned, is partly bound up with their social and political subjection, then they might become more ready material for the Daughters of the Nile. But as yet Dr. Shafik and her disciples have not very much to show for the great efforts they are making.

Camps Of Disease And Apathy

By TANYA MATTHEWS, Author of "Russian Child and Russian Wife"

(Last of a Series of Four)

SOME aspects of the usual reception accorded to Soviet escapees in Western Germany could not be better calculated to disillusion them with the West. A frequent complaint made by the escapees in the American zone at least, is that they are at first greeted with open arms, well taken care of during the early days when they are volunteering information about conditions on the Soviet side and then, when they show no prospects of revealing anything more, "disposed of and forgotten."

RESETTLEMENT PROBLEM

In the British zone, it appears as if some effort were being made to provide escapees with private billets, food and pocket money of up to 40 marks a month. Officials assert that it often proves impossible to get them resettled in other countries in not more than a year.

Because of their terror of Smersh (Soviet secret counter-espionage organization) and fear of the hostility of the German population to any kind of refugees; but especially Soviet Russians, a number of escapees make straight for the displaced persons camps instead of taking advantage of the right of political asylum offered to them by the Allied authorities.

These camps, where the escapees mingle with the flood of general refugees and D.P.'s of every nationality, might have been deliberately designed to kill hope. The wooden huts on the outskirts of towns or villages, almost invariably next to the railway line, look shabby and inhospitable. High grey stone German army barracks with the stale rooms and interminable corridors have an air of eternal doom about them. There are no gardens, no allotments for the inmates to work. Few but the children bother to go out even on the finest days.

In one such camp, which I visited at midday, many of the escapees were only just getting up for lunch. They had not been reading, they had not been talking, they had just been lying on their bunks, staring at the wooden planks of the ceiling.

A typical room I saw in the Wipperfurth Camp, measuring 25x20 feet, contained six families—Lithuanians, Germans, Czechs—totalling 21 people, 10 of them children. Lucky families have their "corners" near the window sides of the room. Privacy is gained through partitions made of blankets, rags or old newspapers. Amazingly enough the children—many of whom were born in the camps—look healthy and seem to take their environment as a matter of course. Most of the refugees sleep in double-tiered bunks on straw mattresses covered with sackcloth without blankets. Sheets are an unheard of luxury.

In these depressing camps, the refugees live a life of apathy, dirt and sexual promiscuity. The birth rate is high: it is not uncommon to find couples who have had one child a year since they became inmates. In one camp 6 per cent of the refugees were estimated to be suffering from venereal disease. There are libraries, but only a few have the energy or interest to read. The chief factor in producing this demoralization is the lack of work. That this is not a necessary condition of camp life is shown by the example of the Ukrainian-Russian camp at Schleissheim, near Munich, which will, alas, have been broken up by the time this article appears. Schleissheim had been turned into a real Russian village with its inhabitants all at work. No one imagines that the escapees can be kept permanently idle or permanently in camps. But when they look for the prospects of useful activity beyond the camp horizon, the escapees find two big obstacles in their way.

NOT WANTED

They are not wanted in the German economy with its huge burden of unemployed. And there is little demand for Soviet immigrants in the world outside Germany, except as laborers. The doctors, engineers, scientists and other intellectuals who form a high proportion of the escapees stand little chance of getting overseas unless they disguise themselves as manual workers.

Unless something is done, the sore in the centre of Europe can only fester and spread to infect tissues that are still healthy. And if the tragic history of Europe between 1933 and 1939 taught us anything—it surely ought to have taught us the lesson that you don't solve major problems by treating them lightly. As Our Readers See It

SAANICH SECESSION

A circular being distributed in former Ward 5 has raised points upon which I feel the following comments are valid.

Urban and suburban interests are not necessarily divergent, when the costs of local improvements are borne by those who benefit from them. In any event, the history of the secession movement in Saanich does not point to a divergence of views between urban and suburban, but between residential and farm property. The problem of drawing a line to separate these two is impossible of solution, for farm property is continually being subdivided into residential property. The suggestion of having a line of division approximating the southern boundary of former Ward 5 is certainly a haphazard choice. It may be a surprise to some to know that there are more farms per square mile in former Ward 3 than there are in former Ward 5. Furthermore, what of the residential areas which are north of the suggested line, such as Royal Oak, Prospect Lake, a large portion of Elk Lake shoreline, Cordova Bay, Brentwood and Saanichton, besides the many who live in less thickly-settled areas?

The fear that, with the elimination of Ward boundaries, the rural area would not be able to secure an equitable representation on the Council has proved to be a purely hypothetical one. One has the impression that the rural area has at present a very noticeable voice in Council deliberations.

The question of amalgamation of some portions of Saanich with Oak Bay and Victoria should not be confused with the current voting on Secession of former Wards 5 and 6. There is no connection between the two. Perhaps such amalgamation of fully settled urban areas would be a logical development, but there are many miles of Saanich south of former Ward 5 which are certainly not urbanized to that degree.

All grants presently received from the Provincial Government enter into the total funds from which Municipal expenditures are made. It has already been shown that former Wards 5 and 6 have in the past received more than their share. This would not be the case, should former Wards 5 and 6 be seceded.

Secession of former Wards 5 and 6 would not end the disagreements which have obtained in the past. The needs, and therefore the wishes, of the settled area would still differ from those of the farm-property owners, and it is quite conceivable that before long the seceded area would be faced with the loss of tax revenue resulting from the formation of half-a-dozen village municipalities in its midst. This would be just as illogical and just as ridiculous as is the present movement for secession.

THE Western Allies' position in Germany has been strengthened by the new boundary agreement between the Soviet-dominated governments of Poland and East Germany.

Politicians in Western Germany have had one fairly solid club to wield in their tussles with the occupation authorities: The implied threat that if the Allies do not treat them right, their people might swing over to the Russian side.

But now that the Russian puppet governments have agreed to slice off from Germany the 40,000 square miles of territory east of the Oder-Neisse river line, the Germans will be permanently alienated from the Soviet sphere. It is about as unforgivable a blow as the high-nationalist Germans could have been dealt. Any more Soviet talk about the unification of Germany under the new conditions will have a hollow ring to German ears.

The United States State Department yesterday took full advantage of the situation, denying the legality of the land transfer. The American position since the Potsdam agreement of 1945 has been that the Poles should administer the territory temporarily, that they should acquire some of it eventually, but that the permanent boundary between Poland and Germany should not be settled until a peace treaty has been negotiated.

Thus the appeal to the nationalistic instincts of a country threatened by communism becomes again one of the strongest arguments on the side of the western democracies in their fight against Communist imperialism.

The mystery about the new land deal is why Russia chose to antagonize the Germans at this time by settling the issue, which she has used for her advantage ever since the war by playing off the Poles against the East Germans.

SHINE

Winnipeg Free Press

Some enterprising citizen at Yorkton has installed a shoe-shining machine. A dime in the slot starts it going. One brush applies the shoe polish and then another does the polishing job. The machine offers a challenge to human ingenuity apparently because from what the dispatch says, it may be possible for two citizens to get a shine on the same dime if they move their feet quickly enough with proper co-ordination.

TOO INTRICATE

Toronto Globe and Mail

Nobody will dispute a member of Parliament who says he could save money if, in addition to his railway pass, he also enjoyed free air travel. Some of them have produced ingenious arguments on these lines, but Mr. James Sinclair of Vancouver seems to show them all up. Mr. Sinclair postulates that air travel is more economical than train travel and that therefore it would be a saving to the country if all M.P.'s had air passes.

We had always thought that a free seat, just like an empty seat, represented money since it represented the loss of a fare. Mr. Sinclair takes the more mature view that should he set out for his riding on a Trans-Canada Airlines pass, the public which owns the T.C.A. far from losing money, will actually be making a profit. Some people may find this a bit abstruse at first, but Mr. Sinclair is well versed in such intricacies. He is Parliamentary Assistant to the Finance Minister.

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN A. TOBIN

"PERSISTENCE," said the Elevator Man, "is a great thing. As readers of the copy book—I wonder what ever happened to those things—we learned what a great virtue it was to stick to a job once it was started. And later on, it's dogged as does it was a byword. But I think there's a limit to it, as there is to all these things. That fisherman in New Jersey reached it the other day when his line broke. Rather than lose the bass on the hook he jumped off an 18-foot seawall onto hard sand, broke an ankle and injured one heel. However he crawled into the surf and grabbed the line. He landed the fish but will spend the next few months in hospital. Going up!

"Now I think," said the Elevator Man, "that a more leisurely type of perseverance is better. Take that editor of the New York Sun. His paper went out of business five months ago, but he still goes down to the office every day, just like he has for 43 years, reads the papers, answers the phone and puts in the day at his desk. He also helps some of the former reporters to find jobs. It's pretty hard to break a habit that old even though he seems to be trying to climb a tree that's been chopped down. Lower main!

"Lots of jobs," said the Elevator Man, "take real doggedness. That old classic about picking an's eggs out of red pepper with boxing gloves on was a tough one. Looking for needles in haystacks, or electrons in a cyclotron—to bring it up to date—is another. Fellows who repair watches, fix teeth, add figures or juggle plates all know that perseverance pays. But they sometimes wonder who collects the payment."

'There Was A Time ...' But Not Then To Faint

"There was a time," said Dr. Edith Summerskill, addressing the new Women's Royal Army Corps Band in London, "when people thought that women were not fit to carry a drum or blow a cornet. Now" She stopped. Bass drummer

Ethel Wilkie, 23, had fainted at her feet and Dr. Summerskill, who was opening the Schoolgirls' Exhibition, rushed to join others rendering first aid to the victim.—(Photo by Mirrorpic)

FROM VETERANS' HOSPITAL

Silence Period Peace So Deep Merriman Wouldn't Use Lighter

Tom Merriman, city editor of The Times, is in the Veterans' Hospital undergoing treatment for the wound he suffered at Vimy.

By TOM MERRIMAN

Ward B, Veterans' Hospital. This is 1.15 in the afternoon in the D.V.A. Hospital. I've never known such silence in my life. It's the Rest Period.

When I get to the end of this sheet on the writing pad I will be scared to tear it off. In contrast with this overwhelming silence, that slight noise would sound like the opening of an artillery barrage or at least like a peal of thunder.

As the blinds were being drawn to darken the bright sunny ward which is a temporary home for 25 or 30 men, nearly everyone of whom is a World War I veteran, I was talking to George Scott, an ex-7th Battalion man. Steady of Port Alberni, looked across the ward with a scowl. "Rest Period!" he commanded. Scotty finished his sentence in a whisper then shut up like a clam.

And if you know Scott like I know Scott you would know that "Silence, Rest Period" is more impregnated with importance in the Victoria D.V.A. Hospital than any place in the world. IT'S SO SILENT

Unless you have experienced it it is impossible to realize silence can be so silent.

It's uncanny. It's frightening. Every man is on his bed sound asleep and I mean asleep, not dozing.

There is something so vital and impressive about this "Rest-Silence-Period" they don't even snore. That to me is one of the most amazing things about it. One may get used to the Silent Period.

Some of those who have been here for weeks take it as a matter of course. It is a firmly established ritual, sacred and holy.

There are D.C.M., M.M. men who won these decorations at the risk of their lives, but not one with courage enough to dare to even breathe heavily during this uncanny period of silence.

SCARED STIFF

Personally I'm suffering tortures.

You know how during spells of unaccustomed idleness you smoke one cigarette after another and read and read and read in an effort to kill time. I'm fed up with reading.

I'm yearning for a smoke. I've run out of silent-striking safety matches, but I'm scared stiff of clicking this cigarette lighter for fear of the storm it would arouse in the breasts of these zealous apostles of the silent hour—Robby Roberts, the dean of the ward; 85-year-old George Pell, the deep-sea diver; "Cappy" Robertson, ex-C.P.R. captain; Wally Bittner, wartime interpreter; George Steeve—that's talkative Steeve, Halifax disaster case, and since chef at Alberni and Nanaimo.

But before the scratching of this pen draws their wrath upon Period, I'd better quit.

Brother, the zero hour was never more tense than this. And in 10 minutes and 32 seconds from now the Period of Silence will be broken. I will be able to click the lighter regardless of the noise.

GOOD TEA DRINKERS

Tea will be wheeled into the ward and don't let anybody ever tell you that the women are the tea drinkers—then Robby will be holding forth as he puts Scotty straight on his weaving job. Lundy and Steeve will be talking on leather work, Bittner, a man of great erudition, will be quoting extracts from current events and commenting learnedly on them.

There will be a terrific clatter. But, thank God, the Silent Period will be over.

U.S. Forces Not Ready For War Till Late 1951

But Gen. Bradley States They Could Prevent Attack Crippling Nation

WASHINGTON (AP)—United States armed forces won't be sufficient to fight a major war even by July, 1951, Gen. Omar N. Bradley has told Congress.

The chairman of the joint U.S. chiefs of staff added, however, in testimony before the Senate appropriations committee, that he feels the U.S. is on the way to attaining "the necessary forces to prevent a disastrous attack from crippling this nation."

K. S. Symons Elected Head Of St. George

K. S. Symons was elected president of the Royal Society of St. George, Victoria branch, at an annual meeting held in St. Michael's school auditorium.

Other officers elected were Harry Langley, first vice-president; Mrs. Bertha Parsons, secretary; Harry Hollins, treasurer; Mr. Langley, publicity; Mrs. B. G. Ruddock, entertainment; Mrs. H. Langley, refreshments and accompanist.

At the meeting Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hollins spoke on their recent visit to England.

The next meeting of the society will be held Sept. 13 at St. Michael's school auditorium.

"I also believe that our forces in being and our mobilization base will be sufficient, together with the forces and potential of friendly nations, to win a war if it comes," Bradley said in testimony released by the Senate committee.

Bradley, testifying in support of a $13,000,000 military budget for the year beginning next July 1, said the aim is to build up forces which, in the event of an attack, "can strike a retaliatory blow that will be strong enough to slow down the aggressor while we mobilize."

"Beyond that point," he said, "we must rely on the tremendous power of our industrial potential, our reserve forces, our military educational system—in fact, what we term our mobilization base—ultimately to win a war if it is thrust upon us. That is a risk that we take."

Comedy Season's Final Offer

"Oh please, don't let it touch me!" cries Vivienne Chadwick in a moment of hysterics during a storm in production of "Lovers' Leap," now playing at Victoria Little Theatre, on Langham Court off Rockland. The Philip Johnson comedy is the Little Theatre's final offer for the season.

Former Foreign Minister Breaks With Chiang Party

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The central executive committee of the Kuomintang, President Chiang Kai-shek's political backbone, announced today that T. V. Soong had resigned from the committee rather than comply with a request to come to Formosa.

Soong, a former foreign minister of Nationalist China and brother of Madame Chiang Kai-shek, was last reported in New York with his brother-in-law, H. H. Kung, banker.

His resignation from the Kuomintang (ruling political party) actually means nothing. When he left China, most Chinese wrote him off. They felt that one of their wealthiest, best-known men—a brother to the President's wife, a pillar of their modern world, had deserted them.

Soong left China shortly before the government fled to Canton from Nanking late in 1948.

Move To Shift I.C.A.O. Office From Montreal

MONTREAL (AP)—The executive committee of the International Civil Aviation Organization has voted, 19-11, to bring before the assembly a motion which would permit moving I.C.A.O. headquarters from Montreal.

The action was a first-step victory for a group of Latin-American countries led by Mexico and opposed by Canada, the United Kingdom, the United States and Australia.

The Latin-American motion would amend the I.C.A.O. charter to permit a future assembly—the organization's supreme body—to change the headquarters site by a two-thirds vote of the member nations registered at the assembly.

Under the present provision the seat can be moved only by amending the charter itself, which is equal to ratifying a new treaty.

Negligence Cause Of Big Fire Loss

Insurance Men Tell Of Other Factors In Canada's Problem

MURRAY BAY, Que. (CP)—Responsibility for 54,495 Canadian fires costing more than $64,000,000 last year lies "in negligence, inadequate prevention methods in the erection of buildings and ignorance of fire dangers," the Dominion board of insurance underwriters was told today.

R. de Grandpre of Montreal, chairman of the joint fire committee of the board and of the Canadian Underwriters' Association, in an address at the annual meeting of the board here said the property loss figure did not take into account additional loss of salaries and commercial revenue. These he estimated at almost $200,000,000. He also pointed to the 1949 fire deaths of 534 Canadians.

At the opening sessions Thursday, board president J. Iglitor Owen of Montreal declared the insurance industry "has a high sense of its responsibilities to the citizens of this country."

"The Canadian nation holds the unenviable position of a yearly per capita loss of $5.21 due to fire destruction," Mr. de Grandpre said.

Mr. de Grandpre said forest fires alone last year totaled nearly 5,000, and burned 300,000,000 cubic feet of lumber—"the equivalent of half the annual consumption of the Canadian pulp and paper industry."

He gave the following list of principle fire causes, and the damage done by each; smokers' carelessness—$3,141,399; overheated stoves, furnaces, boilers and pipes—$4,912,913; defective electrical wiring and appliances—$7,835,747; matches, defective or overheated chimneys, hot ashes, open fires, petroleum—$9,821,000; unknown causes—$30,509,284.

Rails For P.G.E. At Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—A cargo of eight miles of steel rails arrived here Thursday on its way to Queenell for extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway to Prince George.

The rails, first shipment of a $1,800,000 order from British steel mills, were aboard the freighter Pacific Importer.

Road crews will begin laying the steel almost immediately and the extension is expected to open for passenger traffic in 1951.

PLANE TRAINER CRASH BRINGS BIG LAWSUIT

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—Judgment was reserved Thursday in a $27,000 lawsuit filed against the Thunder Bay Flying Club by one of its students who was injured last August when his Tiger Moth crashed in forced landing practice.

Keith McWilliam claimed he was not given proper demonstration in forced landing and that the instructor, Archie Black, failed to take over the controls in time to prevent the crash. Black was killed.

The case is believed to be the first of its kind in Canada.

Oil Exploration Covers Big Area In Northern Saskatchewan

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP)—Oil exploration in northern Saskatchewan is gathering momentum as drilling companies enter the area.

A survey Thursday indicated that more than 5,000,000 acres of land within about a 150-mile radius of Prince Albert have been leased by oil companies.

J. W. Churchman, assistant deputy minister of natural resources, said in an interview that the increasing interest in oil in that area is a result of preliminary survey work last year.

"They are doing actual drilling to prove the information they got last year from geophysical surveys," he said.

BASIS OF DRILLING
Asked whether oil might be discovered here, Mr. Churchman said:

"Oil companies don't usually sort of evidence."
Several truckloads of drilling equipment passed through Prince Albert Thursday en route to Gronlid, where the Hudson Bay Oil and Gas Company will drill.

Reports from Hudson Bay said the Phillips Petroleum Company received a carload of drilling pipe for their test holes in the Fir River area, 16 miles north of Hudson Bay.

Provincial government stratigraphic survey, too, is opening again this year in the Big River country. The government, however, is drilling only for stratigraphic information along the southern edge of the pre-Cambrian Shield.

Last year, when the government first launched the exploration program, test holes in the Big River region hit gas showing at 750 feet.

About 40 holdings have been leased from the provincial government by various oil companies and legal officials for oil companies.

The Hudson Bay Oil and Gas Company, which soon will start drilling in the Gronlid area, holds a total of 590,000 acres southeast of Prince Albert. The company has seven holdings.

Bacon Price Support May Extend Till End Of Year

Government Considers Continuing Plan From Former Expiry Date Of July 1

OTTAWA (CP)—The government is considering the possibility of extending price-support for bacon beyond the termination date of July 1, and it is expected that in all likelihood the program will be continued for another half-year, an informed official disclosed.

He said the decision to reconsider previously announced government policy arises from requests by hog producers that the program be extended and the fact that the government has not as yet been successful in buying sufficient bacon to fill the 1950 Anglo-Canadian bacon agreement.

The agreement calls for the delivery of 60,000,000 pounds of grade A Wiltshire sides. The government program, announced earlier in the year, envisioned the purchase of this bacon supply in the first half of 1950. Some of it was to be stored and shipped in the latter months of the year.

So far the government, however, has been successful in purchasing only about 15,000,000 pounds of bacon at support prices, mainly due to the fact, said the official, that meat prices are ranging higher than expected and that Canadians are willing to pay higher prices for pork than that called for under the support program.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER

It's going to be interesting to see just what Intercity League officials will decide to do about six-man lacrosse come July 1. The Dominion champion Burrards have since the season's start been waging a spirited campaign to have the seven-man game restored. Burrards, a team of veterans, naturally feel that the extra man will benefit them more than it will other clubs in the league. And naturally, too, they will make every effort to gain back this lost advantage.

Eddie Powers, coach of the Richmond Kerrisdale team and who, incidentally, is an advocate of the six-man game, was rather subdued following Wednesday night's defeat by the Shamrocks. "How bad can a team get?" he said. "If they're not in shape now, they never will be," he added, as members of the club came panting into the dressing-room.

No Sword For Pen Here

Shamrocks' secretary Bob "Red" Mason nurses a secret ambition. He wants to play intercity lacrosse with the club. But coach Arnold Ferguson says no. Ferguson figures that Bob, who might go 145 pounds with a couple of lead weights tied to his feet, would take a bad beating out there on the floor. His lacrosse ability is not questioned, Bob being one of the smartest boxers around here during the past few years.

With all the orchids for the Shamrocks' sudden rise to glory going to Ferguson—and his has been a job better than well done—one individual has been overlooked. He is Ralph Baker, manager of the club. A former player and another who answers to the nickname of "Red," Ralph handles the bench assignments for the Shamrocks in all games. He's the only man who can tell Ferguson to come off the floor.

It's Up To The Curlers

Curling devotees will welcome the news that the Victoria Curling Club is about to wage an all-out campaign for building funds. One of the points stressed by club president Jim Neely is that work will not start on the project until it is assured that the building can be completed. Tentative plans call for the rink to house at least five sheets of ice. However, if the response exceeds the $100,000 figure set as an objective, plans of the building allow for a maximum of eight sheets.

Curlers, like other athletes, are a devoted lot and they wouldn't trade their sport for any other. "It's a game both young and old alike can play" is their claim, and the reasoning seems sound enough. It's like bowling. It is much less strenuous than other forms of athletics and bulging biceps play no part in the execution thereof.

He Won't Be Forgotten

I don't think it will take anything away from the Wilf Chan benefit football game on Sunday, but there's another popular footballer who should be deserving of some form of appreciation. He's Ray Hough, injured pitcher of the B.C. Forest Products nine.

Hough was badly hurt a few weeks ago and is also in hospital. Sports memories are short-lived, but I fail to see how any football fans could forget the great performance of Hough in last year's Western Canada football finals. He was the hero of that series, even in defeat.

13-Man Game Expected To Give Rugby New Life

Announcement Thursday night that the Victoria Rugby Union plans to switch to the 13-man code next year was well-received by at least one rugby enthusiast.

Sid Gaunt, local product who left to play the 13-man or rugby league game with the professional Rochdale Hornets in England before the last war, said rugby had been on the decline here during the past several years, and the new game would undoubtedly be an added stimulant to the game.

Druggists, K.P. Win Minor Tilts

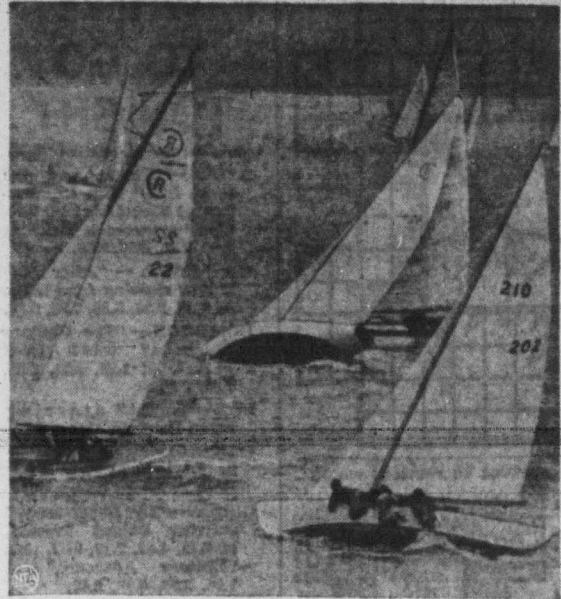

Behind the steady five-hit flinging of Norm McKay, Druggists posted an 8-3 decision over Poodle Dog in a Victoria Minor Baseball Association junior division fixture Thursday night. Winners were limited to six hits, but a two-run three-bagger by George Hall in the first frame was the big blow.

In a second game, Knights of Pythias whitewashed the Times, 5 to 0, as Don Carlow gave up only one safe blow in hurling the victory. He was aided by home runs by Bob Abbott and Peter Ash.

Unknown Sets Pace In U.S. Golf Open

ARDMORE, Pa. (UP)—A golfing whiz kid from Alabama shot the best round in the 50-year-old history of the U.S. Open championship and the question today as the field teed off for the second round was whether he was a one-day wonder.

Most of the field who set out to overtake him figured he was. But not Lee Mackey Jr., a 26-year-old unemployed professional from Birmingham, Ala., who really burned the treacherous Merion Country Club links up brown yesterday when he shot a six-under-par 64 for the best round which ever has been carded in this, the biggest of America's golf tournaments.

The crew-cutted six footer, an unknown among the host of heralded golfers trying for the championship, put his better-known contemporaries to shame with his long and straight tee shots, exceptional iron play and his precision putting.

NOT NERVOUS "I wasn't nervous; I'm from Alabama and we take things slow and easy down there," the unassuming, unemployed professional said. He was calm and poised then, just as he had been when he shot that record-breaking round.

Today's second round, in which he set out three strokes ahead of his nearest competitor, should tell about his nerves. If Mackey should come through again, it might be all over. But the odds were stacked against him, and heavily, too.

The low 50 and ties at the end of today's round will be eligible to tee off in the final 36-hole Saturday. It looked like it would take a score of at least 148 to make it for there were 50 golfers who shot the first round in 74 or better.

Three strokes behind him was Al Brosch, the red-haired veteran from Garden City, N.Y., who, aided by an eagle two, shot a three under par 67. In last year's Open, he was leading the field at the end of two rounds and then folded.

ALEXANDER WELL UP Right back of Brosch came big Stewart (Skip) Alexander and Julius Boros, who, like Mackey, is a newcomer to professional ranks. Both turned in 68s, but for a time Boros had a chance to match Mackey's superlative round. He was five under par when he came up to the 16th, but he lost his touch there and dropped three strokes to par on the last three holes.

Slammin' Sammy Snead, having putting trouble as he usually does in the Open, had a 73. He was the 3 to 1 choice to win. Second choice Ben Hogan, 4 to 1, recovered from a bad first nine of 39, three over par, to finish with a 72.

In the 72 bracket also was Jimmy Demaret, who with Lloyd Mangrum and defending champion Cary Middlecoff were listed at 5 to 1. Mangrum, who won the Open in 1946, also had a 72 while Middlecoff shot a 71.

City Lawn Bowlers To Visit Nanaimo Victoria West Lawn Bowling Club will make its annual visit to Nanaimo Sunday as guests of the Nanaimo City Bowling Club. The local club has also been invited to visit the Seattle Woodland Park Bowling Club in Seattle July 1. The Seattleites were guests here last week.

Report Neil Colville As Next Ranger Coach

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—The New Haven Register says today that Neil Colville is slated to replace Lynn Patrick, who resigned recently, as coach of New York Rangers of the National Hockey League.

Sports editor Charles W. Kellogg says hockey sources here—where Colville served as coach-manager of the recently disbanded New Haven Ramblers—and in Canada, have told him that Colville will take over as boss of the Rangers before the end of this month.

While refusing to be quoted, the sources independently said that Colville, one of the Rangers' post popular veterans, already has been informed of his new post, the paper reports.

Shortly after the close of the American Hockey League wars, Colville, 36-year-old, Edmonton product, told him, Kellogg says, that he would be retained in the Ranger organization "either in a coaching or scouting role." At that time no final decision had been made on the disposition of the Ranger farm team in this city.

Subsequent word from Colville, now in Edmonton, indicated that he planned to be in the east this fall. Since the Rangers have ceased operations in New Haven and Phil Watson has been retained as coach of New York Rovers, the Ranger entry in the Eastern Amateur Association, it is indicated that Colville would have to be in New York.

A Ranger official told the Register this week that he will confer with Colville on the west coast early next month but refused to divulge the subject matter of their talks.

OFFERED 'GOOD DEAL'

In a recent conversation, Colville told the Register that "I have been approached by several

SENIOR BOXLA SET TONIGHT

Undeclared in five games, Roy Wolsey's Jokers, currently heading the four-team city senior B lacrosse league, will be out to add to their lead at the expense of the winless Navy in the second game of tonight's card at the Memorial Arena.

Opening game will pit together second-place Tillamook and Foul Bay, commencing at 7.30. Latter are currently two points out of second place, and a win could tighten the standings considerably.

Arrest Made In Daring Hold-Up

VANCOUVER (CP)—A man identified by police as Austin Tarleck has been charged with snatching $8,200 from a restaurant cashier as she was taking it to the bank.

Detectives said Tarleck was charged after he was picked out of a police line-up. All witnesses to the brazen snatch-and-run robbery Tuesday were present at the identification line-up. Cashier Sheila Christie, 22, was taking the money, contained in a satchel, to a bank across the street from a south-end Granville Street restaurant. The robber dashed out, grabbed the satchel and fled.

Death Sentence For Second Youth

VALLEYFIELD, Que. (CP)—Cervin Patenaud, 19, of nearby Huntingdon was convicted of murder Thursday and sentenced to be hanged Aug. 25. He will be executed the same day as his companion, Kenneth Bevin, 18, also convicted last week of the hammer slaying last Dec. 11 of Lucien Brunette, Huntingdon taxi driver, in a robbery attempt. Both youths now are serving a four-year sentence for robbing a bank at Ormstown of $1,400 the day after they murdered Brunette.

Communism In U.S. At Greatest Height Thus Far

WASHINGTON (AP)—J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the federal bureau of investigation, has told Congress Communism in the United States today is "at a greater height than either Nazism or Fascism was during the last war." Hoover told the lawmakers in secret testimony made public Thursday night that U.S. Communists have begun to go underground in the last seven months. They have stepped up their efforts to burrow into many industries, he said, and have made "amazing" strides in penetrating the legal profession. Hoover said Red party members began hiding their tracks when 11 top Communist leaders were convicted in New York in October.

Now they are using secret codes and are tightening their own "security" against leaks, he said.

The FBI director gave his report on Communists in closed-door testimony before a Senate appropriations subcommittee several weeks ago.

Four Electrocuted As Power Line Breaks

PEARSON, Ga. (AP)—Four linemen were electrocuted near here Thursday when a power line broke in a pouring rain and shot 2,000 volts of electricity into soggy ground where the men were working.

The men were working in a downpour putting up a power pole which struck and broke some overhead lines. The crew was relocating a high-voltage line along a newly-constructed section of a highway.

HOLLYWOOD REVIEW

Most Decorated Soldier In U.S. Gives All Medals Away

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Audie Murphy, "fed up" with being the most-decorated U.S. soldier of the Second World War, disclosed today he has given all his medals away.

"I've been fed up with that 'most decorated business for a long time,' said the soft-spoken young Texan. 'I realize that it is an honor, but only because it symbolizes the work done by a lot of other guys, too. But it has never meant much to me.'"

I asked what has happened to all the medals.

"I gave them away, mostly to kids," he said. "He's not ungrateful for the honors, but he's a modest man, with no pretence about his own achievements. He feels deeply the loss of his comrades who didn't come back from the war. He's equally unassuming about his film career. Although he is playing his fourth leading role, in "Kansas Raiders," he still considers himself more of a farmer than an actor.

Ray Milland is so frustrated at not being able to direct a picture that he might even do one under an alias of Joe Doakes or his real handle, Reginald Truscott-Jones.

Milland has urged producers all over town to give him a whirl at a megaphone. "They all have the same answer," he lamented.

"They tell me that once I direct a picture I lose my value as an actor. I'm supposed to wait until I no longer want to act."

So now he has the idea of directing a picture incognito and using another name. "Then, believe me, if the picture turned out to be good, people would find out who 'Joe Doakes' was," he added.

'You Don't Really Mean It ...'

Questioning look in this Robert A. Hanks' poodle portrait comes from miniature poodle who hasn't been to the hairdresser lately for that top-knot coiffure well known to the breed. That's a fancy necklace she's sporting, though.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Good Teeth Brushing Aids Pyorrhea Cure

Pyorrhea alveolaris, or as dentists prefer to call it periodontal disease, is apparently as old as the human race. It is an inflammation of the gums and several entirely different types are recognized.

A number of local causes have been incriminated: mechanical irritation, retention of food, poor functions of the teeth or gums and infection. Also a considerable number of general diseases have been recognized as playing a part in causing pyorrhea. Among these are allergy, bad diet, pregnancy, diabetes, Bright's disease, and certain disorders of the blood.

Because of the complicated causes for pyorrhea, the condition may be a problem for both the dentist and the physician. Local causes, of course, can be treated best by the dentist who is able to attack the mechanical irritation and other dental faults. Proper hygiene, that is, brushing of the teeth, is of course important between visits to the dentist.

IN BEST POSITION
The physician is in the best position to analyze and correct any general deficiencies of the human body which are playing a part in pyorrhea. If the diet is poor, then it is the physician who should find out what is lacking and recommend the necessary foodstuffs, minerals, or vitamins. If allergy is partly responsible, then the allergic causes must be tracked down and corrective steps taken. Similarly diabetes if present must be properly treated. Bright's disease or disorders of the blood must be diagnosed and everything done for them which can be done.

It is no longer generally believed that pyorrhea is a serious cause of focal infection and likely of itself to produce arthritis, neuritis, or other inflammations elsewhere in the body. Even when germs are present in the gums afflicted by pyorrhea, they are probably not absorbed into the blood system and carried through the body to produce disease.

BEWARE BAD BREATH
Pyorrhea nevertheless is not a condition which should ever be allowed to develop because it weakens the teeth and may interfere with the functions which the teeth and gums are supposed to fulfill. Furthermore, pyorrhea or periodontal inflammation is one of the common causes of bad breath—a condition which seems to trouble an enormous number of people.

Since pyorrhea can usually be prevented by proper brushing of the teeth and by reasonably frequent and adequate dental care, together with attention to the general health, it is one of those disorders which it is far better to prevent than to treat.

May Put Names Of Units On War Graves Overseas

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Claxton disclosed Thursday night in the Commons that unit names may be engraved into the headstones over the graves of Canada's war dead across the seas.

Pending a final decision, he had stopped the erection of further headstones in Canada's overseas military cemeteries and has officials looking into the possibility of inscribing the names of the regiments in which the fallen men served. Agitation on this issue was started in Victoria by legion and next-of-kin association.

If it was decided to do this, unit names would go on new headstones being erected and would be inscribed on those already in place. Word is expected shortly from the War Graves Commission and an early announcement will be made.

Mr. Claxton said he had looked into the question and found that when war graves were set up in 1946 it was decided to place only the man's name, number, rank and corps on the stone. But, knowing the record of the many famous regiments in Canada, he knew a considerable number of unit members and next-of-kin of those who died overseas would want unit names also to be used.

Earlier, Maj. E. D. Fulton, P.C., Kamloops, had suggested that unit names should be placed on the headstones.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

"When this hand was played in a rubber bridge game at our club recently," writes a Richmond fan, "declarer took a long time out for thought at one point. This puzzled me, as I shall soon explain.

"West opened the king of spades, and South won with the ace. South then drew two rounds of trumps, West discarding a low spade. South continued with a third round of trumps, and West discarded another spade. East discarded the deuce of diamonds.

"Declarer cashed the top clubs and led his remaining spade. West won with the jack of spades, and led back the queen of spades. East discarded a club on the third round of spades.

"After South had ruffed the third round of spades, he led the rest of his trumps. Both defenders discarded their clubs on these tricks. At this point it was clear that each hand held three diamonds, and South had to guess which defender had the queen in order to make his slam.

"This particular player does not put on an act when he plays bridge, but on this occasion he sat and thought for three and a half minutes before making a play. It seemed like a year!

"What can a player find to think about in all that time?"

If East is a poor player, there is no problem. His discard of the deuce of diamonds should indicate that he does not hold the queen of that suit.

If East is a good player, he might discard the deuce of diamonds if he thinks that South considers him a poor player.

If South and East know each other to be good players, East would not discard a diamond no matter what he held. It is obvious that a club discard must be safe, so South would know that a diamond discard meant monkey business. He would probably see quite clearly that East actually held the queen of diamonds and was trying to disguise it.

If East happened to be a really great bridge player, he might discard a diamond from a worthless holding. The idea would be to persuade South that East was trying to disguise a strong diamond holding.

If you think that this is now becoming very complicated, I will agree with you. I think you will have to agree with me, however, that South has plenty to think about. He must decide how good East is, as a starter. From there he must go on to such delicate matters as East's opinion of

North Ontario Mining Man Found Guilty On High-Grading Charge In Gold District

KENORA, Ont. (CP)—Charles Lamothe of South Porcupine, Ont., was found guilty Thursday on a high-grading charge, and will be sentenced at the end of the present spring assizes.

Lamothe and his son Francis, also of South Porcupine; Emile Vachino of Red Lake, Ont., and Lachie Macdonald of Pickle Lake, Ont., all were charged with unlawful possession of partly-manufactured gold. Macdonald also was charged with stealing ore from a mine.

Charles Lamothe was tried separately.

Twice Thursday—third day of the trial—the judge excluded the jury while argument of counsel was heard on admissibility of evidence. Both times the evidence was put into the record.

Crown witnesses gave detailed evidence of the arrest of the accused. Charles Fulkner, assayer at McKenzie Red Lake Gold Mines, and E. Nymen, Winnipeg analytical chemist, gave technical evidence regarding gold buttons which, another crown witness testified, were found in the door of a car occupied by the Lamothes and Vachino.

Corp. E. M. Richardson of the Red Lake detachment testified he saw Lamothe, his son and Vachino get into a car in Red Lake and another man hand in something that looked heavy.

Argentine Dictator Boosts Price Of Meat

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—President Juan D. Peron has raised the price on domestic cattle by 23 per cent. This was interpreted in some quarters as a move to back up his demand that Britain pay more for Argentine meat.

Britain has refused to pay a 40 per cent increase.

Canada Would Take Part In Total Defence Talks

But As Yet No New Commitments In Atlantic Pact Claxton Tells House

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons, opening a wide-ranging debate on defence, heard Defence Minister Claxton declare Thursday that Canada has undertaken no new military commitments under Atlantic Pact arrangements.

He told the chamber the pact's policy of balanced collective forces is "implicit in collective defence" and will have "no immediate effect" on Canadian forces or planning.

At the same time, the Dominion was ready to sit down and discuss her part in planning the best possible total pact defence. If commitments came, they would be made by Parliament and the government.

The opening phases of the debate brought criticism from opposition members. George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, called on Mr. Claxton to produce a detailed statement of units and establishments of the army, navy and air force, including an outline of expenditures for each item.

Li-Col. Douglas Harkness (P.C.-Calgary East), speaking as an individual, suggested Canada should take the lead in urging the rearming of Germany and proposed that Franco Spain be brought within the framework of the Atlantic Pact.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, protested the discharge of a Regina man from the R.C.A.F. for allegedly having a Communist background, and Mr. Claxton replied that the man, a radar and electronics expert, had been a member of the Young Communist League in the late 1930's.

The minister indicated at least one other man had been discharged for similar reasons.

He disclosed that federal and provincial authorities will meet within the next few months to work out plans for civilian defence in Canada at the provincial level. The planning has been completed at the federal level.

Mr. Claxton reported also that the army's airborne division is 80 per cent up to strength, that 405 Canadian servicemen now are abroad, that Vancouver shortly will have the second R.C.A.F. reserve radar squadron and that Canada now has more trained paratroopers than Germany dropped on the Low Countries in 1940.

Red Defeated In British Election Loses Libel Suit

LONDON (Reuter) — Philip Piratin, former Communist member of Parliament was ordered Thursday to pay £1,500 ($4,650) damages to a London police officer whom he slandered at street-corner political meetings last October.

The officer, Chief Superintendent Charles Frederick Satterthwaite, claimed that Piratin had called him "a friend of the Fascists" who "ought to have been kicked out of the police long ago." Piratin denied uttering the slander.

Piratin was Communist member of Parliament for Mile-End in London's East End, from 1945 to 1950.

ENGLISH JUST GREEK TO HIM

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A gentleman obviously not too far removed from the British Isles approached the elevator in a downtown department store the other day.

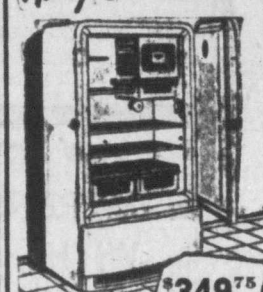

"Are you ascending or descending?" he asked.

The elevator operator looked nonplussed, then—apparently deciding to ignore the issue—stuck his head out of the door and called:

"Going up."

Uninhibited Young Lady Undresses In Street Piccadilly Passers-By Think Nothing Of It

LONDON (Reuter) — The blonde young lady paused on the curb at Piccadilly, squinted up at the blazing sun, thought it over and then removed her dress.

Unabashed by the stress of passers-by, she folded the dress over her arm and proceeded across London's busiest intersection.

There were no outcries for law and order. The blonde young lady was about four years old and the temperature hovered near the 80s.

It was just another incident in Britain's current heat wave, which cooled off a little Thursday from the sticky 86 degrees of Thursday.

More disturbing was the milkmen's convention that, literally, went sour. Most of the milkmen had to stay home to keep their products from going bad. The chief speaker failed to show up as well. He had sunstroke.

IF VICTORIA wants to see more secondary industries established here—and almost everyone seems to want them—what has to be done to attract the desired operators? That's a question groups that are interested in themselves in a campaign to secure more payrolls for our increased population may be able to answer. Wishing isn't going to make the wheels turn over in new factories.

There are natural inducements of course. Just living here is pleasant—if you can make a living. Labor stability is more evident in Victoria than in a lot of other centres. And business, in addition to moving to B.C., is generally following a westward trend.

THOSE THREE factors encouraged Steve Rands to launch his small, Canadian factory to make Saba of California women's apparel in a Store Street building a few years ago. The beginnings were reasonably modest. It was tough going. The line, well-known in the States, had to be popularized in Canada, and it took a little persuasion to convince buyers from here to Fort William, Ont., that a Victoria factory could turn out medium-priced junior size girls' and women's dresses and suits. Nobody had heard of that kind of an enterprise in this part of the country.

It was a new industry for Victoria. But it isn't any more. Steve is pulling out, bag and baggage, for Moose Jaw this week and plans to locate in a brand-new building under a working capital scheme sponsored by the Saskatchewan city's industrial and trades development organization.

RANDS HAS LOST money in Victoria. He can get the orders. He can make the garments. But in this city, acquiring working capital comes hard. Too hard, he thinks, when Moose Jaw is going after industry the way it is.

Steve isn't crying. He figures this isn't the town for him. He thinks his line can be built up as successfully as some of the important American name factories that have established Canadian branches. In the last year or two he's had a staff of 15. He believes that can be worked up to 50 in five years. Maybe Steve Rands is wrong. Maybe he's too optimistic. Maybe he's so right that Victoria will regret its inability to keep him operating in this town. At all events, he tried to make a go of his new secondary industry here and has decided he could do better elsewhere.

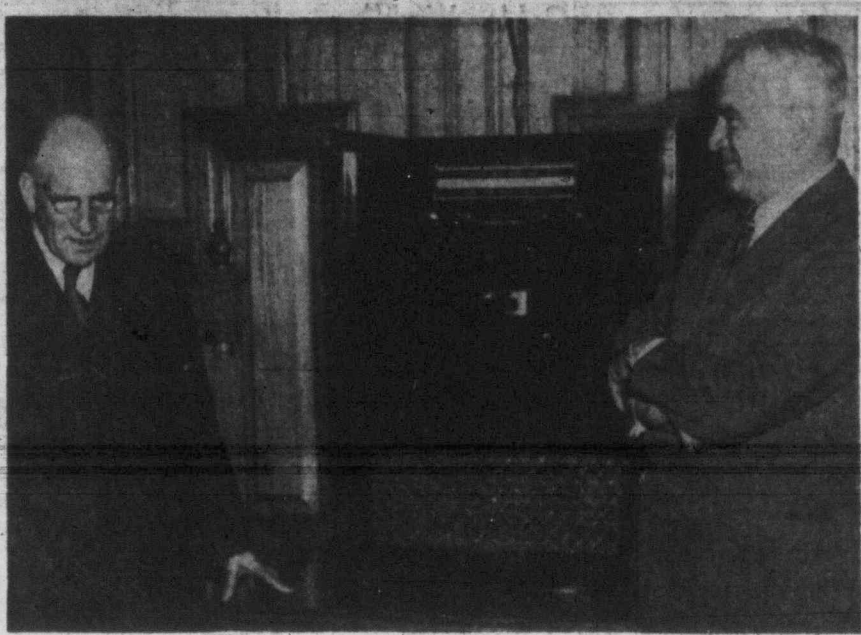

AS FAR AS he's concerned, Moose Jaw is going after the business with more than talk. He doesn't think the world owes him a living. He thinks it's the other way around. He's ready to face competition—well, comes it—and he says he's not looking for subsidization. But he feels he has been crowded here, and the amenities of Victoria don't make up for the potentially greater opportunity he sees on the prairies.

Rands' experience may provide something of an object lesson for groups that are trying to stimulate the entry of new industry into Victoria. Competition from Moose Jaw and other parts of the prairies is pretty keen. Businessmen establish businesses mainly to make money. Climate—if it ever returns—flowers and gracious living may not make our town an irresistible magnet for men of enterprise if those distant prairie fields have more of the green stuff in them.

The public doesn't want to fatten any industry through too many subsidies. What arrangements can be made in a way that doesn't hurt the taxpayers, though, deserve attention. More payrolls are worth working for, not just talking about.

THIS MIGHT be the year to try the vinegar suntan treatment. Rub vinegar on your skin, bask in a broiling sun for several hours, and you wind up dark as a pickled walnut, according to some authorities. That's information strictly at second hand. The only time I tried it, the clouds came up as soon as I'd smeared on my poor man's lotion. All I got out of the deal was a splendid isolation, and a few sniffs from people who came too close. Still, it's worth a trial this summer. Vinegar is cheap. Some of the more fancy suntan dressings run a little high. If you've only spent your money on a bottle of vinegar, you aren't much out of pocket even if the sun doesn't shine. You can always use the vinegar for salads.

An adult gazing at sun lotion on a grey day can be just as wistful as a child with a new sled looking out at the rain on a green Christmas.

Radio-Phonograph For Member

Premier Johnson, on behalf of the ministers, presented George S. Pearson, veteran Nanaimo M.L.A., with a combination radio-phonograph and a number of record albums.

Cabinet Presentation Made Former Health Minister, George Pearson

George S. Pearson, former Provincial Secretary and Minister of Health and Welfare, was honored today by members of the B.C. cabinet. At an informal ceremony just prior to a regular cabinet meeting, ministers gathered to shake Mr. Pearson's hand and wish him well in his retirement years. As a personal gift from cabinet members, Premier Byron Johnson presented him with a combination radio-phonograph and a number of record albums, including one containing a speech delivered by Mr. Pearson last fall at the opening of the Crease Clinic, Essondale.

The Premier told Mr. Pearson his resignation from the two cabinet posts had been accepted with regret. He said, however, the retirement had been richly earned. "You did a swell job," was the Premier's simple summing up of Mr. Pearson's many years as a minister.

Mr. Pearson, in response, said he had no regrets about leaving the cabinet. "I am satisfied I did the right thing," he said. "If I had tried to carry on I would have broken down completely."

Mr. Pearson said recovery from his recent long illness was slow. He said his general condition was still weak. He told the ministers they could expect him in his seat in the Legislature at next year's sitting, ready to take a full part in proceedings.

Missing Boy Found At Home

A Langford Street seven-year-old boy who was reported missing at 10.25 last night was found at 1.45 this morning by Constables Brian Ferguson and Angus Stewart. The youngster was hiding under the front steps of his home.

Police To Warn Hit-Run Driver

It isn't so much the fact that he was knocked down that vexed Chief Petty Officer Hugh C. Dunbar, R.C.N., of 865 Heywood Avenue. It was because the driver of the car that did it did not stop.

This happened Thursday at Humboldt and Blanshard Streets. While the navy chief doesn't want to take court action against the driver, he has asked police to warn the man about his driving habits. He got the license number of the car.

Pedestrian Count To Be Held June 24

Saturday, June 24, is the day set for Victoria's annual pedestrian count, according to assessor-collector A. G. Joyce.

The count is designed to assist the assessment department in gaining information which will have a bearing on the valuation of downtown business properties. Men with mechanical counters will number passers-by at some 55 different locations in the downtown business area between 11 and 12 in the morning and 3 and 4 in the afternoon.

Saanich Polls Open At 8 On Moves To Divorce Municipality

The voice of Saanich ratepayers will be recorded Saturday in a plebiscite on secession of the areas known as Wards Five and Six from the municipality.

There was confidence today in the ranks of the anti-secession Ward Five group that the ratepayers in their area will vote by a large majority against breaking away from Saanich. This has been indicated in a petition being circulated, it was stated.

While the feeling for secession in Ward Six has been strong, latest suggestion is that the vote in that area will be closer than the pro-secession group has anticipated. Ratepayers in the municipality

Failure To Pay Premiums Draws Three $5 Fines

Three fines of $5, or in default of payment three days in jail, were levied today in city police court for failures to pay hospital insurance premiums.

Roger G. Holliston, 1624 Amphion Street; Gordon Owen, 739 Queens Avenue; and Joseph Parkin, 3639 Shelbourne Street, had all failed to pay. Holliston owed $10.50, Owen $16.90, and Parkin $16.50.

A similar charge against Frederick Wm. Swain, 2659 Douglas Street, was withdrawn.

A thief raided the home garden of B. Burgess, 2260 Blackwood Street, Thursday afternoon, and stole about six dozen flowers, city police were told. Theft occurred while Mr. and Mrs. Burgess were away from their home.

Unique Contests By Flying Club

If you see some aircraft kicking up their aerial heels over Saanich Peninsula Sunday, no need to worry.

It will just be members of the Victoria Flying Club engaging in some unique contests. Planes will release balloons, then chase them and attempt to hit and burst them.

Long paper ribbons will also be dropped, the object being to execute some fast turns and cut the ribbons.

To complete the activities, a spot landing contest will be held. Planes must try to touch down exactly on a spot marked on the runway.

HAROLD P. JOHNS

Harold P. Johns, who attended Victoria High School and Victoria College, graduated from the University of B.C. in 1929 and took his M.A. in 1935, after which he did post-graduate work at the University of Washington.

After teaching in high schools in Prince Rupert and Victoria he took up his present post with the province.

ORGANIZED DEPARTMENT While at Victoria High School, Dr. Johns organized a guidance and placement department. The success of this led him to pursue a definite course of study to enable children to find their proper training and vocation. Since joining the department he has been in charge of this work throughout B.C.

Sewing Machine Attachments
For Buttonholes, Hemming

By PENNY SAVER

Here is a whopper of a convenience and a time saver! The name? Why it's the new buttonhole attachment for a sewing machine that features the "stripper foot" which makes it easier for the home seamstress who wishes to work buttonholes in sheer materials. It holds fabrics firmly to prevent snagging and creeping up of material. Woe betide the unfortunate soul who wanders into the sewing room when mama finds that the old buttonholer is puckering up the works!

There are five templates that come with the attachment and the complete set in a smart green box sells for $12.95. The templates range from 5-16 inches to 11-16 inches and when inserted insure even buttonholes all the same size. For tailored suits and coats you even find a template that makes a keyhole buttonhole. For that matter you can also make slot-type buttonholes for dresses, pajamas and play clothes for the junior members of your wee brood.

Just being unpacked while I was visiting the Yates Street shop... a happy haven for hemstitchers... was another bit of good news for the lady with the flying fingers. This time it's a blind stitch attachments. (This store has more attachments than an old rocking chair.) What's the purpose of a blind stitch attachment you say? Well, mama it's your answer to invisible hemming.

The sum of $4.95 buys the gadget which produces invisible hemming with perfect blind stitches on an almost unlimited variety of work such as shirts, dresses, lingerie, children's clothes, curtains and towels.

There are very few minutes lost when it comes to attaching this hemmer (if there is such a word). It is faster and less effort is needed when you quickly attach it to the machine in place of the presser foot.

Sakes alive, haven't seen name tapes around since war days, but there they were in different types of print ranging in price from $1 for three dozen and for $2.25 you can take home 12 dozen! In colors of red, blue, green, black, navy, purple and brown, you won't lose your shirt whether at a card party or on the beach if you've got your name printed on one of those tapes.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Cream Top Peach Salad

Six canned cling peach halves, salad greens, 1/4 cup ripe olives, 1 (3-ounce) package cream cheese, 2 tablespoons milk or cream, 1/4 cup finely chopped celery, salt to taste.

Drain peaches and arrange on salad greens. Cut olives from pits into pieces. Soften cheese with a fork and blend in milk. Stir in olives, celery and salt. Heap into peach halves. Serves 6.

Garden Party, 'Lawnwoods'

Esquimalt Chapter, I.O.D.E., has completed arrangements for a garden party at "Lawnwoods," the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald A. R. Stelek, 1218 Old Esquimalt Road, on June 21 from 2.30.

Mrs. C. T. Beard, wife of Cmdr. Beard, M.I.A. for Esquimalt, and a former regent of the chapter, will declare the fête open. There will be a stall of aprons, bags and novelties conveyed by Mrs. L. D. Hall and Mrs. H. Baker and a home cooking stall in charge of Mrs. T. Floyd and Mrs. Nelson Ball.

Feature of the affair will be presence of the Royal Canadian Navy Band, which will play during the tea hour.

Tea table arrangements are in charge of Mrs. G. D. Cramb and Mrs. G. P. Clarke, assisted by Mrs. E. M. Gibson Mrs. W. D. Leith and girl guides from the Esquimalt unit.

Candy and ice cream will be sold by Mrs. A. L. Oakley and Mrs. W. E. Akenhead, while Mrs. J. Halstead and Mrs. R. W. Laidler have charge of the lucky dip. Mrs. J. Bryant, Mrs. A. Corry and Mrs. F. Bonner will look after games and Mrs. C. L. Bishop, a grocery basket. Tickets are in charge of Mrs. A. A. Warder.

Proceeds from the garden party will be used for I.O.D.E. work of the chapter.

First Baptist
Women's Tea
To Aid Scouts

Women of First Baptist Church, in co-operation with troop and pack group committee, have arranged a tea for Saturday, proceeds to be devoted to the First Baptist Boy Scout Troop and to the newly-formed Cub Pack.

Under leadership of W. A. Bowman, scoutmaster, the troop was formed early in the year and is making excellent progress.

At the beginning of May, Cub Leader Morris Anderson enrolled the first of the juniors in the First Baptist Cub Pack and a good start has been made. Funds raised at the tea will go to purchase training equipment and to give the troop and pack the financial aid necessary on formation.

OF PERSONAL INTEREST

Mrs. William Cairns and Mrs. James Forrest, Sooke and North Sooke Women's Institute members, are in Vancouver attending a conference in Physics Building, University of British Columbia.

Mrs. J. R. Lunney and her son, Dennis, who have been on a month's holiday in Victoria the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Neill, Rowland Avenue, left Wednesday for their home in Winnipeg. En route home they will spend a few days in Vancouver.

Misses Margaret Wright and Elizabeth Foote, who will attend Miss Louise Lyne as bridesmaids at her marriage to Mr. Rodney Lammers next Wednesday, entertained at a shower for her recently.

Gifts of linen were presented in a chest, decorated in turquoise and yellow. Games were played and refreshments served from a table with a centerpiece of marguerites. A corsage bouquet of roses was presented to the principal, and her mother, Mrs. G. H. Lyne, and mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. John Regan, received corsage bouquets of summer flowers. Guests numbered 25.

Miss Bernice Levis, whose marriage to Mr. Bill McAllister will take place this month, was guest at a kitchen shower given by Mrs. Gilbert Brown, "Rose Bank," 3920 Cedar Hill Road. Color motif of the shower basket, lilac and green, was repeated throughout rooms with mauve stocks, sweet peas and lilac, artistically arranged. Contest winners were Mrs. Ross Sturgeon and Mrs. Harry Youson. The bride-to-be was presented with a corsage bouquet of gladioli and sweet peas while her mother, Mrs. H. M. Levis received one of white carnations. Little Maxine Levis, niece of the bride-elect, and Barbara Brown, who will be flower girls at the wedding, presented shower gifts. Other guests were Mesdames Sandy Witherspoon, Ken Rix, Horace Dawson, Irvine Dawson, Fred Atkin, Harry Tibbet, William Levis and Misses Margaret Irvine, Shirley Lundy and Louise Michaux.

Golden Wedding
Cake Contest

To the woman who bakes the prize golden wedding cake at Canadian National Exhibition this year in Toronto will go a cash award of $100 and only non-professional contestants are allowed to enter, it is announced by the C.N.E. women's division.

First entry form to reach the C.N.E. has come from Mrs. G. Hatley of Eaton Hall Farm, King, Ontario. The cake, which is to commemorate a golden wedding celebration may be light, dark or spice, according to the prize list. Entry forms are now available by writing to the women's division Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto.

Batter for the prize cake may be ready-mixed or mixed at home. It must be baked in two nine-inch layer pans, filled, frosted and decorated appropriately. Nine runners-up will receive consolation prizes.

The 10 best entries will be presented to golden wedding anniversary couples in a special evening ceremony after judging. Deadline for registration of entries is August 14.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDERD

Daylight saving time, in the communities in which it is practiced, makes some problems for parents. Because the days are so long and hot and light, babies and small children do not want to go to sleep.

But it proves better, perhaps, to stick as nearly as possible to the rhythm of their previous days, disregarding the hours. Time their naps so many hours from their meals, and their bedtimes the same. If a child is accustomed to sleeping a half hour after a meal, or an hour afterwards at night, if he isn't put to bed at that time, he will go past the "sleepy spell" and then may be unable to sleep for hours.

While it is easier for adults to go to sleep in the dark, children are not so affected, as they are accustomed to daytime sleeping. I feel certain that if mothers will put their children to bed at the time, in relation to meals, to which they have become habituated, there will be fewer sleepless children, despite the longer day.

There are problems which have to do with waking, too. Children wake up early, often far earlier than parents are ready to get up. It is futile for a parent to say that she will teach the child not to wake at this early hour, by not feeding him. Children wake just the same and it fills a child with helplessness and frustration not to be attended to and fed when he awakens in the morning.

If he has gone 10 to 12 hours without feed he cannot be convinced that it is not yet breakfast time. For him it is the only way a parent can impress him with her love and desire to protect and comfort him, is to get up and give him his food when he is awake and crying for it.

One grandmother was shocked at the young mothers who fasten contrivances over the baby's crib so that he cannot get out and then let him lie and cry until they are in a mood to attend to him. This is wicked and cruel and no real mother would be guilty of such practices. Conscientious mothers are eager to make their children happy and to keep them well. Just penning up a child so he can't hurt himself and then leaving him alone, helpless and lonely is the act of a sadist not a loving parent.

Our leaflet No. 5 "The First Six Weeks," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Elderd in care of this newspaper.

NAMES MOST REMARKABLE WOMAN

STOCKHOLM (Reuter)—Asked to name the most remarkable woman she had ever met, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, on a three-day visit to Sweden, decided on Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, India's ambassador to the United States, and sister of Prime Minister Nehru of India.

The widow of the late American president defined as her reasons for naming Mrs. Pandit: "She always says all the things a man would say and uses all her woman's wiles to say them."

"She always looks lovely in her long, colorful Indian robes in the United Nations."

Langford—F. J. Willway will talk on "Pre-School and School Children" at a meeting of Langford P.T.A. on Wednesday at 7.45 in the school. Mrs. Rodney Bayles will report on the recent conference and refreshments will be served.

TIMES DAILY SERIAL

FINGERPRINTS DON'T LIE

By Rupert Hughes

THE STORY: Martin Queripel, the private detective, has agreed to investigate the slaying of Wendell Palmer, wealthy Los Angeles man, for whose murder Palmer's daughter's fiancé, the sculptor Paul Moody, is charged. Paul was seen entering the Palmer home before the murder and his fingerprints have been found on a telephone which was used to batter Palmer's skull. Azalea Palmer, the victim's daughter, refuses to believe in Paul's guilt. Queripel has recommended a young lawyer, Harley Kenyon, to defend Paul and has asked Kenyon to come to meet the girl.

INSTALLMENT 27
It touched rather than amused Martin Queripel to see that, even in this hour of misery, Azalea Palmer was a human woman enough to set about repairing her make-up which had been half obliterated by her storm of tears, sobs and her sopping handkerchief.

She had almost a new face and quite a new courage when Timothy O'Hea brought in Harley Kenyon. Queripel noted that at the sight of Azalea, Kenyon fell back as if she had struck him a blow.

Her very littleness and pitifulness gave her prettiness more impact on a normal man than any grand and flamboyant sterner beauty could have wielded.

And Queripel was relieved to find that Azalea was plainly impressed by Kenyon's appearance.

COURAGE, STRENGTH
Harley Kenyon's rugged and irregular features and forthright expression revealed to Azalea qualities of courage and strength and masculinity that on Greek god, perfect soever in beauty, could have expressed.

The man and the woman studied each other as strangers, their pasts as unknown as their futures. Kenyon did not even know Azalea's name, though he had seen her pictures in the papers.

Queripel had not told him whom he was to meet, and Kenyon had for a few moments the thrill of feasting his eyes on the most adorable creature he had ever met. His fancies took flight, but were brought down like shot pigeons when Queripel explained who Azalea was and that she wanted Kenyon to save her fiancé from the gas chamber.

Her sublime faith in Paul Moody's innocence had strengthened her with a sublime faith in his iniquity. The gentle disbelief of the kindly Queripel had shaken her confidence more than all the harshness of the others. But Kenyon accepted everything she told him as the gospel truth, and anything she wanted him to do as a divine mission.

He felt like a young Knight of King Arthur's Round Table to whom some beautiful "lady" has appealed to help her through a dark forest peopled by black ogres.

Later, he would be almost tempted to wish that Paul Moody might be found guilty and removed from competition, so that he himself might console his lovely client. She was more irresistible for her meek lack of self-esteem even more than for her winsome beauty and her fanatic devotion.

Kenyon accepted the case with enthusiasm and told Azalea as much. He promised her more than he hoped to achieve because he felt that she desperately needed a slip of hope to carry her through the desert of despair.

"Leave it to us, Miss Palmer," he said. "There is no more wonderful detective than Queripel, and with his skill and my determination to serve you. Paul Moody is as good, as acquitted now."

That first word of optimism broke Azalea down completely. She rose, but would have dropped to the floor if Kenyon had not caught her and upheld her. Her tears on his sleeve were to him the jeweled ribbon that a lady of King Arthur's court would have fastened on the sleeve of her chosen Knight entering a tournament.

As soon as Azalea could get herself under control again, Kenyon offered to take her home. But she said:

"I've a car downstairs."

"But you oughtn't to drive a car in your state of mind."

"I have my father's chauffeur."

"Besides, I want you and Mr. Queripel to get to work at once. Forget all about me—except to tell me a bit of news now and then—especially how my poor darling is looking. You are his lawyer and he's your client, but I'm to pay you. Don't tell him that; but when he says he can't afford to pay you, then you say you'll work for nothing—for publicity, or something. But save him. And God bless you and help you. And don't let all that talk about fingerprints not lying fool you. They even took my fingerprints while they were at it."

"They took your fingerprints?" Queripel asked. "You didn't tell me that."

"Yes," she said. "The man who was picking off fingerprints from everywhere about the house, came into the room where Nadine and I were being cross-examined by the police detective—Fleming. I think his name was."

O'Hea, who was listening in as usual, broke in again:

"Nice fellow, that Fleming; but dumb. But he's a clane straight honest stick."

Queripel silenced O'Hea with a look and nodded to Azalea to go on. She did.

"While Fleming was questioning Nadine and me, and a police stenographer was taking it down, the fingerprint man came in and took our fingerprints—for reference and elimination, he said."

Then she tossed off a careless comment that acted on Queripel's brain as an apple once acted on the brain of Sir Isaac Newton.

Even when dried indoors... EVEN WITHOUT RINSING

Surf gives you Sweeter Washes

...whiter, brighter to look at!
...fresh-air-sweet to smell!

Surf contains an amazing detergent which not only gets out every trace of dirt and grease . . . but every hint of "dirty clothes" odor, too.

Your Surf-clean clothes are really doubly clean—Dazzling white, rainbow bright—and sunshiny sweet to smell. There's never a trace of sour, "musty" odor, even when you dry them indoors.

What's more—you don't even have to rinse those Surf-clean clothes.

Here's why: The detergent in Surf has the magic power of grabbing the dirt and holding it in the wash water. When you wring out the water, you wring the dirt out with it—and every hint of "dirty clothes" odor, too!

When you don't rinse, Surf's purifying action continues to keep clothes sweeter longer. So, if you prefer to rinse, add a little Surf to the rinse water.

Use Surf for EVERYTHING

Surf gives you rich, long-lasting suds, that do 3 times the work of ordinary soaps, in hardest water. Use it in the washing machine for your heavy wash. For lingerie and stockings, too.

All the Surf your grocer has now, in the same familiar blue box, is "no-rinse" Surf—especially developed to save you time and work.

Once you discover Surf you'll say it's the one and only suds for you.

"ORDINARY" CLEAN
A faint "musty" odor often betrays the fact that remnants of dirt still cling. Rinsing won't get rid of this . . . but Surf does!

SURF CLEAN
Even without rinsing, Surf removes every last trace of dirt and odor, too! That's why it gets your clothes so white, so bright, so wonderfully sweet to smell!

If it's Surf-clean, it's really clean... EVEN WITHOUT RINSING

DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix—My husband comes to the table every morning unwashed, uncombed and unshaven. I have talked to him about it, but he does not seem to see that he is losing my respect and endangering the happiness of our marriage. When I look at him across the breakfast table I wish I was a thousand miles away.—NEAT WIFE.

Answer: Men know how much importance they put upon their wives being easy on the eyes. It is strange that they do not realize that women, who put so much stress upon appearance, are even more offended by having to look upon a slovenly man.

But how you are to make your husband feel that you are worth dressing up for of a morning, I don't know. You might give him a dose of his own medicine and come to the table with your hair in curl papers and cold cream on your face and, if he objects, tell him that if he will do himself up for breakfast, you will, too.

ALBERTA OIL REPORT

Record Thickness Of Pay Sand At Whitelaw No. 1

By C. V. MYERS

CALGARY—Shell B. A. Whitelaw No. 1 was making gas history in Alberta Thursday as the bit continues to core down into a pay thickness of sand now exceeding 300 feet. Never before has an Alberta sand given up gas over such a section.

The famed Viking Kinsella field, rated by some at one trillion cubic feet, has a pay thickness of only a few feet of sand. Shell B. A. Whitelaw is now on the 500-foot section and has not yet reached the end of the sand. Tests have ranged from 1,000,000 to 7,000,000 cubic feet a day. There have been several tests at 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 cubic feet, one at 2,000,000.

While nobody is predicting the size of the well at this date the tests add up to one of the big gassers of the province.

Thickness of pay makes Whitelaw look like a major gas strike to rank with some of the best in Alberta.

NEW RESERVES

New billions of reserves are undoubtedly being added at this moment to Alberta's terrific potential. Gas discoveries have been coming in at the rate of about three a month since the Alberta export gas hearings began in January, to look into the question as to whether or not Alberta had enough gas to export.

Whitelaw, 35 miles west of Peace River town, already raises the question of what other great reserves of gas and oil may be discovered in northern Alberta and northeastern B.C.

So far the only export route proposed to the Alberta Petroleum and Natural Gas Conservation Board which would take this northern gas is the route out of Edmonton and through the Yellowhead Pass.

The decision on route by the board and finally the Alberta government, if it comes before the Pacific Northwest market is filled by Montana and Wyoming gas, will be of vital importance to the gas and oil development of the Peace River country and northeastern B.C.

Chief Veterinary Here On Poultry Disease Problem

Dr. Thomas Childs, veterinary director-general of the federal government's health of animals division, was in Victoria today conferring with provincial government officials in respect to Newcastle disease, threatening B.C.'s poultry industry.

This morning Dr. Childs discussed the problem with Agriculture Minister Harry Bowman.

Mr. Bowman said afterward the federal policy of fighting the disease by slaughter methods would continue because only by this means could be disease be eradicated.

A program of vaccination, as proposed by many producers, would mean in effect that farmers would have to live with the disease and inoculate their flocks every year.

Mr. Bowman said the federal authorities were adding to the poultry inspection staff in the province and were keeping a close watch on all large flocks.

Canada Ready For War At Moment's Notice

Claxton Tells Commons Navy Ships Could Go Into Action In Few Hours

OTTAWA (BUP)—Defence Minister Brooke Claxton indicated to Parliament today Canada could get ready for war at a moment's notice.

The minister said two-thirds of the equipment needed for the first year of a possible war already was stockpiled. The navy could be fully operational within a few hours, he stated.

Claxton was speaking during debate on the defence department's estimates. He told the House there would be no immediate change in Canadian defence programs, despite the North Atlantic Pact agreement to extend defence to a specific area larger than merely a country.

Refusing a request from Opposition Leader George Drew for information on mobilization forces, Claxton said:

"I do not know anything that the enemy would like more than to know the strength of trained personnel in each type of unit so as to show our whole battle order, its effectiveness, and the establishment figures for mobilization."

Claxton also explained that, by giving such information, a prospective aggressor would have an invaluable check on his own espionage and information services.

Claxton hinted at new developments in projectiles. He did so when stating clearly that the role of infantry would not be changed in defence plans, and its importance had not been reduced.

"I believe the trend of modern development in the immediate future will increase the importance of infantry because there are developments coming in weapons and projectiles which will increase the defensive power of infantry against armour," he said.

An effort would be made to send more and more personnel into operational units, he promised.

Dealing with the navy, the minister said all Canadian ships in commission can be fully operational within a matter of hours. At present 41.5 per cent of naval personnel are in commissioned ships, much larger than in any other navy he was familiar with.

The Author of "Conflict"

Mr. William A. Plenderleith

will be in our

Book Department, Saturday, June 10th

At 2 p.m., to autograph his book.

Mr. Plenderleith went to school in Victoria as a boy and later attended the University of British Columbia and Toronto. He taught school throughout B.C. and then became School Inspector. At present he is the Inspector of Junior and Senior High Schools, Central Vancouver Island area. "Conflict," the book by this West Coast writer is a fine man's story, a good historical novel. It seems fitting that as the author has lived most of his life near the sea that many stirring scenes in this exciting book should have to do with ships and those who serve them in peace and war.
